OUSTER FIGHT PLANNED

Warden's Attorneys Declare They'll Battle Removal, Effective April 1.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Charged with favoring convicts with wealthy or political affiliations, James C. Woodard was dismissed today as warden of Ohio penitentiary.

Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood in 22 charges filed with the civil service commission also accused the veteran prison head of permitting gambling and bootlegging of narcotics and liquor among prisoners and operating the century-old institution inefficiently.

Will Fight Ouster.

Council for Woodard, head of the prison since 1935 and a member of its staff since 1909, announced they would vigorously fight the ouster, effective April 1.

Pending disposition of the charges, Acting Warden W. F. Amrine, state superintendent of corrections, will remain acting warden. Sherwood said that Amrine would not be appointed to the post permanently.

Amrine conducted the investigation on which dismissal charges were based.

Specifically, Woodard was charged with granting favors to C. Sterling Smith and Kenyon V. Painter, former Cleveland bankers, and Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli, one-time Toledo gang leader.

Sherwood asserted that Woodard "permitted inmates to acquire, maintain and circulate large sums of money."

As a result of a breakdown in discipline, Sherwood charged, regular gambling games for large sums "operated as a concession by and under the control of certain inmates continued as a daily occurrence."

'Lacks Judgment.'

Woodard also was charged with "lack of judgment in conferring trusty privileges" and with "improper training of guards."

The dismissal order is effective April 1, when the 30-day suspension against Woodard expires. Woodard succeeded Preston E.

EUROPE TURNS EYES ON ROME, DUCE'S PLANS

Germany's Conquest Takes Back Seat as Powers Wait Italy's Demands on France.

MUSSOLINI TO SPEAK

Dictator's Address Tomorrow Expected to Bare Italy's Expansion Program.

BULLETIN

IGLO, Slovakia — (AP) — Air and land fighting between Hungarian and Slovak troops was reported today over the Ung river valley, claimed by Hungary as her new frontier line. Bombing of towns and villages behind the fighting zone was attributed to both sides. Losses of life as well as property damage were reported.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Europe's uneasy attention shifted today from Berlin to Rome as Germany set to work to put her enlarged house in order and the ambitions of Italy, her axis partner, came to the fore.

Premier Mussolini was expected to make what may be a momentous address tomorrow in which some observers expected him to present Italy's colonial demands on France.

War's End Near.

This belief was encouraged by reports from Spain which said that final negotiations for the surrender of Madrid to the Spanish nationalists and for peace in the 32-months-old Spanish civil war were nearly completed. An end of the Spanish conflict has been expected to signal a showdown by Italy on her demands on France.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain delayed further efforts to weld a "stop Hitler" bloc until after Mussolini had spoken.

Polish reluctance to join such a front set back British and French plans for joint action by "anti-aggressor nations." But there still was a possibility that Britain, France and Soviet Russia might conclude a triple entente, then seek a separate agreement with Poland.

Semi-official sources in Bratislava said an armistice had been arranged in eastern Slovakia, where Hungarian and Slovak troops have been engaged in border fighting. Germany was understood to be trying to smooth out the dispute on behalf of Slovakia, which has Beglin's protection,

GETS POST BACK

Californian Reinstated on Job By Labor Board.

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The labor relations board reinstated Dr. Towne Nylander today as regional director at Los Angeles.

He was suspended Feb. 27 "pending an investigation of the accuracy" of newspaper accounts of an address he made at Inglewood, Calif., on Feb. 6.

The Inglewood News quoted the regional director as saying, 'when we go into a hearing the employer hasn't got a chance." Nylander contended that what he had said was misinterpreted by the paper's reporter.

The board said an inquiry by Lieutenant Commander James E. Brenner, U. S. navy retired, a law processor at Stanford University, showed no cause for the suspension.

Renew Efforts To Combine Rural School Districts Today

The county board of education, meeting shortly before noon today at the courthouse, was to make another attempt to consolidate rural school districts in Butler, Bloominggrove, Weller and Franklin townships in compliance with an order from the state department of education.

Boyd Robinson, county superintendent and clerk of the county board, said he would ask the board to determine what can be done about the proposed consolidations which have been a thorn in the side of the county and township boards for more than two years.

It was learned before the meeting that residents of the western half of Bloominggrove township agreed to a consolidation if it could be made with the Shiloh district to the west. They protested at any attempt to send pupils to the Union school in Weller township, Robinson said.

Major opposition continued to come from the Adario district in Butler township where parents and school officials have blocked moves to close the high school and transport pupils to the Union school.

About a dozen board members and interested residents of the district involved in the consolidation wrangle waited outside the county superintendent's office where the board was in session today for news of the board's action.

The international situation, business depressions, and even Woodland's water system problems were forgotten last night by members of Raemelton Riding club and their guests when the club held its first event at the riding hall in a number of months.

It was a gymkhana program and the events ranged from carrying fresh eggs in spoons above flying hoofs to spearing rings on a lance a la Round Table knights. Only these knights wore trim riding coats and carried wooden lances.

Nine Events On Program.

There were nine events on the program which was witnessed by more than 200 persons, and most of them depended upon dexterous handling of mounts and a time element.

It was really something to see George Draffan, Louis Ott, jr., Henry Huston, Donald Black and the rest of the men riders getting down on the ground and crawling through small barrels, while the sight of dignified Judge Charles H. Huston snapping at a doughnut dangling before his face was something to remember.

The barrel race, which specified that riders must dash to the center of the arena, dismount, crawl through a barrel, remount and race back to a goal, was won by Spencer Draffan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Draffan, Millsborough road. "Spennie," incidentally, the

Firemen from Engine companies Nos. 2 and 4 quickly brought the blaze under control, however.

Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad on whose right of way the bridge is located had not completed their investigation today and could place no estimate on the damage. They said the bridge, located on a spur, could still be used.

A fire at the Owls club, 115 North Main street, at 7:45 p. m. yesterday was extinguished by firemen from companes Nos. 1 and 2 before any serious damage had resulted. They reported that the blaze was caused by a defective chimney.

WPA ENGINEER GETS ROAD POST

Moellenkamp Named Assistant Highway Division Head to Direct WPA Activities.

A. H. Moellenkamp of Mansfield, WPA project supervisor in Richland county, today was appointed assistant state highway engineer in the Ashland division to have charge of WPA activities. He will begin work Monday.

Moellenkamp was named by Murray D. Shaffer division engineer, who said the job was created recently when the state highway department agreed to sponsor a $15,000,000 WPA secondary road program.

Shaffer said the Ashland division which includes Richland and seven other counties, will share in the program to the extent of $1,500,000 with each of the counties receiving a share of the federal and state funds for road construction. Work on the huge project will be started immediately.

"Because of his experience with WPA work, we considered Moellenkamp the best man available to handle this important project in the division," Shaffer said

Moellenkamp has been affiliated with WPA activities in Richland county since CWA was replaced by WPA in 1934. He has been assistant division field man, area engineer, and county project supervisor

In recent months he has been in charge of a county-wide road and bridge program, the major work relief project in the county at the present time.

State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler announced today that Arthur A Mackey, a timekeeper in the Ashland division, is one of 18 highway employes who will be suspended for 30 days next Tuesday for "disciplinary purposes."

Beightler said removal orders might be filed against the men

Bullet Ends 9-Day Chase For 'Tarzan'

'Wild-Man' Killer of Five Ends Own Life After Townsmen Trap Him.

(By Associated Press)

POWELL, Wyo.—A bullet from his own revolver delivered Earl Durand, the renegade of the Rockies, to his self-assigned address—"undertaker's office, Powell, Wyo."

The 26-year-old mountain Tarzan's trail of terror ended in a home town bank which he tried to rob yesterday after killing four pursuers during a nine-day flight from the law. The fantastic bank robbery attempt also cost the life of a 20 year old teller.

Durand, who had eluded capture by a posse that grew to more than a hundred men, was about to escape when a 17-year-old boy, Tipton Cox, fired the shot that felled him. Durand then fired a bullet into his brain with his own six-shooter.

So ended a bloody postscript written in the history of the wild west by a mountain-wise young man angered by his imprisonment for killing a bull elk out of season. He broke from the Cody jail March 16, killed two officers who sought to apprehend him, killed two more men when a posse tried to trap him in northwestern Wyoming's mountains, and then came back into town to rob a bank.

* * *

Durand, before he attempted a one-man stand against possemen in Clarksfork canon last Wednesday night, visited three ranches near Powel, leaving at one a letter addressed to Sheriff Frank Blackburn of Park county bearing as a return address: "undertaker's office, Powell, Wyo." The letter challenged the sheriff to "have my head mounted and hang it upon the courthouse." The wily fugitive knew, he wrote, that he was "done for."

An awed calm returned to Powell today. Hundreds of citizens filed past the body of the man they had known as a nature-loving individualist who rather than attend to school or ranch duties, preferred to live in the mountains for weeks, subsisting on game felled by his prodigious marksmanship and sometimes eating the meat raw.

John Gawthrop, 20, the slain teller of the First National bank of Powell, was one of three men Durand attempted to use as a shield when he stepped to the

CONFESSES AT JAIL

'Must Have Been Crazy,' Says Oklahoman After Prosecutor Obtains Statement.

(By United Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY—Roger W. Cunningham, 33, eccentric member of a prominent Oklahoma City family, confessed early today that he strangled his 30-year-old beautiful socially prominent wife to death last March 6.

He directed a sheriff's party to her body which he had buried in a freshly dug sewer ditch.

The body was found face up by four workmen after they had dug through several feet of soft earth in a sewage ditch which had been filled in March 7, the day after the woman disappeared from her suburban home.

'Kicked It Into Ditch.'

Cunningham, according to County Prosecutor Lewis Morris, said he had strangled her—"I don't know why"—and had carried her body to the vacant lot through which the sewer ran and "kicked it into the ditch."

"I must have been crazy," he told Morris after more than two hours of questioning. "It was a hell of a thing to do."

Morris revealed that Cunningham twice had been held for examination at a hospital for the insane at Norman, Okla.

The prosecutor went to the county jail late last night for one final try at breaking his story that he saw his wife last on the night of March 6 when he drove her to union station here with the understanding she was going to San Francisco.

"We talked things over in a matter of fact way," Morris said, "and Cunningham stuck to his story. I described the anguish of her parents.

Mercury At 80, Showers To End March Heat Wave

Showers forecast for tonight and Sunday are expected to end the spring "heat wave" which yesterday sent the mercury to 80 degrees for the warmest March 24 in 14 years and boosted the mercury to 76 degrees by noon today.

The weatherman said slightly cooler weather will follow the showers Sunday but he predicted no sharp drop in the unseasonable temperature

Yesterday's reading of 80 was one of the highest in the nation, with Raleigh, N. C., reporting 86 for the day's high. Cincinnati had 82. Columbus 81 and Cleveland 74.

The reading of 80 was the highest March temperature recorded here since March 25, 1929 when the mercury climbed to the same mark.

Light showers last night failed to have any effect on the summer weather with the lowest temperature reading during the night at 47 degrees. The 24-hour average of 63 was 23 degrees above normal.

SPRING OFFICIAL SO CLUBS PLAN EVENTS

Week-End Quiet as Leaders Look to Parties, Teas, Regular Sessions During Six Days; Garden Groups Start Season.

By FRANCES E. GENSLEY

SPRING is officially here, and with it the anticipation of many entertaining events in store for the club minded. Just two more weeks of the Lenten season remain for our observance, and then Mansfield organizations, like Mansfield women, will blossom out in spring togs, attend to the necessary house cleaning, and get all ready for the warm days which are to come.

It seems only a short time ago that we were telling you of plans of the study clubs for the fall and winter season, and yet in the last few days we have been telling you plans of the garden clubs. Several major organizations have already elected officers, and held final meetings, but the majority of the groups still have a few more sessions, and these promise to be interesting ones for members and their lucky guests.

Looking Over the Week's Calendar.

After the excitement of the past week-end Mansfield social life is taking a slight vacation this Saturday and Sunday. But with a number of wedding dates announced for April we have many interesting events to look forward to this spring. So with the prospects of good weather for the coming months we'll turn our attention to the club activities of the next week.

Monday.

Plans for Monday will keep a large number of Mansfield women busy the first day of next week as groups of every type gather for sessions. The Misses Lucile Lorow, Helen Lorow and Leona Snyder are in charge of arrangements for the party which will be given by the Delta Kappa Gamma sorority. You, no doubt, recall that this group was organized only this year, and is the Mansfield branch of a national educational honorary.

The home of Mrs. Howard McClure, Stewart avenue, will be the scene of the meeting of the United Presbyterian church guild, and the Jolly Bunco club members will meet with Mrs. Virginia Merrill, West Third street. Mrs. Gladys Lane, Park avenue west, will hostess the Consumer Purchasing group of A. A. U. W.

Both the Naomi Shrine and the American Legion auxiliary are planning initiation ceremonies Monday evening. The Shrine group will meet at the Grotto hall for the ceremonies, and for election of officers, while the Legion Home will be the scene of the covered-dish dinner and induction of the auxiliary members.

Mrs. R. E. Hutchison will hostess the Victorian club members at the Women's Club at 2:30 p. m., and the Mary B. Mitchell Tent No. 40 will hold a regular session at the hall. There will also be a meeting of the Little Flower Study club with Miss Edna Horning on West First street. A covered-dish dinner will be served, and the Daughters of Ruth class will have a session with Mrs. Earl Schuler, 151 North Walnut street.

Tuesday.

Activities galore fill the calendar for Tuesday as Mansfield study groups gather in regular session. The Women's Club is destined to be busy all afternoon with meetings of the Travelers club, Tourist club and Tuesday Book club scheduled there. Mrs. H. T. Pritchard will be hostess at the Travelers last meeting while Mrs. J. W. Galbraith entertains the Tourists, and Miss Martha King has the meeting of the book group.

Three sororities choose Tuesday evening for sessions. After the so-called "ruff" initiation of last Tuesday evening, the Chi Sigma pledges will be formally inducted into the social organization with a dinner party at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The Misses Mary Strater, Ruth Zelenka, Naomi Stutz, Mary Elizabeth Miller and Florence Nail are in charge of arrangements.

Two church classes—the Ruth Circle class will meet with Mrs. Sherman Stone, and the Earnest Workers class with Mrs. George Hunter. Mrs. Keith Miller will be hostess to the Child Study club at her Chevy Chase road home. There will be a business session also of the Joan of Arc circle, Daughters of Isabella in the Bird building.

Among the social groups planning meetings are the Valencia club, the Tuesday Night club, the Varieteers Bridge club, the Knotty club, C. W. club, Social Crochet club and the American Legion Bridge club.

Wednesday.

Events seem to lessen with the arrival of mid-week, but there are still many things to entertain the club-goers. Charity sewing will be the business of several groups including the Companion Sewing circle, the Welfare club and the E. L. K. Sewing circle. Study will occupy the Junior Sorosis when Mrs. S. R. Baird entertains, and the usually very seriously studious Problem of the Month Study group will be having a social affair at the Towne House.

The Parish house will be the scene of the Christomathian class meeting, and the Utopia club will meet with Mrs. H. E. Rinehart, 504 West Townview circle. Mrs. Herman Schmitz will be hostess to the Eureka Birthday club, and the St. John's guild will meet at the church with Mrs. Ida Winter, Mrs. Agnes Wilson and Mrs. Della Young.

Mrs. Frank Helt will be the hostess to the Ruth-Naomi Bible Study club as four of the social organizations of the city meet. They are the DeLuxe Pinochle club with Mrs. Amanda Murray, the Do-Be-There club with Mrs. E. M. Tinkey, the Wooden Shoe Euchre club and Mrs. Garnard Kelly, and the Friendly Eight club.

Another of the important events being planned for Wednesday is the musical-tea which members of the Republican Women's Council are going to hold at the Mansfield-Leland hotel from 2 to 4 p. m. The affair is in charge of a number of committees with Mrs. Carl Spangler directing the social.

Thursday.

A light day is Thursday with few affairs being planned. The principal event of the day will be the meeting of Gamma chapter of Tri Gam sorority at the club rooms. A number of social groups have also made plans.

Mrs. Josephine Boals will be the hostess for the Buena Vista meeting, and the Atlas club will assemble at the home of Mrs. Robert Gressmer on Bowman street. There will be a session of the Italian social club at the home of Mrs. Conrad Reale, Auburn avenue, and the Friendly Neighbor's club is scheduled at Mrs. Michael Loesch's Hammond avenue home.

Other meetings are the Jolly Times club gathering with Miss Lucille Beck, the We club meeting at the home of Mrs. George Berg, the session of the Varsity Vagabond club with Lorena Desterhast, and the dinner party of the Jolly Dozen Euchre club at Apple Lane Inn.

Friday.

Although spring was ushered in officially on March 21, we can be sure it is really here March 31 when we see the number of garden club meetings which are scheduled. Of course you know the ardent gardeners have met each month during the winter, but real activities are being resumed on this last day of March.

Mrs. John Conard, Woodward avenue, will be the hostess for the meeting of the Cottage club, the Mansfield Garden club will meet with Mrs. John Hattery, the Johnny Appleseed group with Mrs. Lewis Hartman, the Astowela club with Mrs. M. E. Geipel and the Town and Country Garden club with Mrs. F. E. Ross.

Two church groups—the class 12 of the First Lutheran church, and the Lucretia Hedges Missionary society—have also chosen the last day of March for a meeting. Two lodges, the Past Matrons club, and the Lady Garfield council will be in session. The J. U. N. club will meet with Mrs. A. A. Booth, and Mrs. R. H. McGregor will entertain the Nightlark club.

Saturday.

The final day of the week, but the first of a new month. April 1 is the date chosen by Miss Dorothy Clingan for her marriage to Norman E. Leonard. The ceremony will be performed in the quiet rooms of the Women's Club by Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church. The ceremony will be read at 3:30 p. m. in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

The only social club of which we have heard is the Fireside club. This group will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gabor of South Boulevards.

FETE HUSBANDS TONIGHT.

Members of L'Allegro club are planning to give a party in honor of their husbands tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Crowl on Dawson avenue. Final plans for this affair were made last evening when the group met at the home of Mrs. Samuel Morgan, Wise avenue, for 500. Mrs. R. C. Baker received the high score prize. The next regular club meeting will be with Mrs. Perry Bush, Mendota street, on April 14.

HEAR BOOK REVIEW.

There were 11 members and one guest, Miss Ruth Rust, present for a meeting of the Viewre club last evening at the home of Mrs. Hugh Rust, Bowman street. After the business meeting, Miss Vera Smythe reviewed the book, "My Son, My Son," and Miss Grace Wilson gave a paper on the Irish Free State. The meeting of April 21 will be held at the home of Mrs. Sherman Wentz on West Fourth street.

Miss Stella McFadden of Mansfield and Edward Sharp of Mt. Vernon were married in a quiet, single ring ceremony at 8 o'clock this morning before the altar of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. Rev. Paul H. Saleste performed the service. The couple will reside in Mt. Vernon.

The engagement of Miss Jean Gifford, Cleveland, and Richard Olin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Olin, Brinkerhoff avenue, was the occasion for the pre-dance party the same evening at the home of Miss Helen Schmutzler, Lexington avenue. The group pictured at the left are (seated from left to right) Miss Schmutzler, Mr. Olin and Miss Gifford. Donald Frampton, Miss Bette Anderson and Robert Rohrer are standing.

The middle-man has a big job on his hands—he supports both the rich and the poor.

A Chicago school has installed slot machines to prove to pupils that they can't win. Here's another wide open field for adult education.

Most Urgent Immediate Need.

MANY subjects will be discussed in Mansfield from time to time through the next several months, but the one of outstanding importance, insofar as the future of this city is concerned, is associated with the proposed reconstruction of municipal water and sewer systems.

Any such project, which involves a considerable outlay of money, must have public support, which can be gained only through general understanding of the urgent need for action.

Water service and sewage disposal are basic needs of every modern community, on which the health, safety and convenience of all residents are largely dependent.

While it is entirely proper to emphasize the higher insurance rates which Mansfield property owners are compelled to pay as a penalty for prevalence of 4-inch water lines, the additional $50,000 a year in fire insurance premiums is actually a small matter, as compared with the danger of hundreds of thousands of dollars in fire losses that might easily result from a spread of flames due to insufficient water pressure.

Nor should there be any minimizing of the constant danger to individual homes in various residential sections which are now inadequately served by water lines of sufficient size to supply pressure in case of fire.

The advantage of rehabilitating water and sewer systems at the same time is quite evident, and the total cost, as distributed in a slight addition to real estate taxes, would be small as compared with benefits of these improvements.

There is also, as has been mentioned, the fact that interest on bonds issued in the near future would probably be the lowest ever paid on money borrowed for municipal public work.

Mansfield cannot continue to advance as a city unless its people co-operate in doing things that must be done. Modernizing the city's water distribution and sewer systems tops the list of things that MUST BE DONE NOW!

Purpose of American Rearmament.

THE huge rearmament bill, as finally passed by congress, provides for building up the fighting strength of the army air corps in both planes and personnel, improving defenses of the Panama Canal, and placing orders for war materials to "educate" American industry in their production.

There seems to be widespread national approval of such measures, based not on American eagerness to go to war but on the strong belief that adequate preparedness may help to prevent threatened war. Hitler's recent conquests have been made by show of force, not by fighting.

Observers of the situation inside Germany believe that while that government was better prepared for waging war last September than Great Britain and France, its superiority is rapidly disappearing. They believe that when the superiority is clearly on the "Stop-Hitler" side of the European line-up, the dictators will not dare to make war and will even stop their bloodless aggression.

American rearmament, accompanied by clearly expressed American disapproval of the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia and the whole German policy for mastery of Europe, should add weight to the anti-Hitler movement.

That, at least, is the American hope. If it proves groundless, it will be even more important to be prepared for self defense and for protection of the Americas.

No 'Easy' Divorces Here.

WHATEVER may be the Reno simplification of divorce processes, and the Hollywood multiplicity of marriages, our Richland county Common Pleas Judge Huston inclines to the old-fashioned idea that a marriage contract should be entered into with a view to permanency, rather than being considered a temporary affair, subject to annulment at the first rift in connubial bliss.

As pointed out by Judge Huston yesterday, in denying a divorce, a considerable percentage of divorces are followed by quick re-marriage and frequent repetition of the whole routine—with resultant unhappiness of more people.

A study of the hasty marriages that occur from time to time, coupled with consideration of the common causes of divorces, will give any observant person a fairly good idea of why there would be less "repenting at leisure" if there was more thought in advance of the wedding ceremony.

Habitual Law Violators.

CASES such as that of Joseph Puzzo, who is again under arrest—this time on a charge of possessing counterfeit money—raise a question as to what had best be done in handling those persons who seem to classify as "habitual criminals."

When Puzzo was in court in 1933, before being sent to the penitentiary, he showed little understanding of the difference between right and wrong conduct.

Whatever the outcome of present charges against Puzzo, his record thus far has been such as to indicate that he requires close supervision. It sometimes seems that in such instances permanent confinement in prison is a justified safeguard against habitual violators of criminal laws.

Bob Burns, radio entertainer, suggests giving children numbers until they are old enough to pick out their own names—which might avoid a present tendency to overdo on the monikers of some of the popular movie stars.

When Papa Dionne contended the King and Queen should visit Callander to see his "five of a kind" there was probably a royal flush.

Surely there must be a better argument against drinking and smoking than that Hitler doesn't.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—In the wake of German conquests arise questions as to how long that country can continue its enormous expansion without collapse. Nobody knows the answer. Nor can anybody compute.

The capture of $80,000,000 of Czech gold is a boon to Germany jut now. Short term notes issued to pay the costs of mobilization and building of the Siegfried Line last Autumn are falling due at the rate of 500,000,000 marks a month. Every little bit, especially of gold, helps.

It is an axiom of nations that a country never becomes insolvent. Often it cannot pay its foreign debts, cannot feed its people well, cannot longer finance armaments. But it can exist, nevertheless.

To finance a staggering arms program, Germany has resorted to extraordinary expedients both in her internal affairs and in her external financing. Hjalmar Schacht, former economic minister, once was asked what he would do when the effect of his latest financial sleight-of-hand wore off. Reputedly he replied:

"We will do something else that is expedient."

* * *

Troubles Pile Up.

FROM every direction financial and trade troubles of the Reich appear to increase, yet U. S. officials returning from there say no economic collapse is in prospect.

There is no way of determining just how large is the annual German expenditure and debt. Germany has kept its budget secret since 1935. From Department of Commerce reports, the studies of British and American writers in Germany, and other available sources it is possible to estimate that the annual expenditures of the government are 30 billion marks. An estimated one-half is for the miltary. Marks are valued at about 40 cents.

The 1935 budget, the last published, showed ordinary receipts of 7,805,000,000 marks and ordinary expenditures totaling 8,221,000,000 marks, leaving a prospective deficit of 400,000,000. Of the ordinary expenditures, war charges were listed at 48,000,000 marks. An unexplained item of 2,931,000,000 marks may have hidden other military or semi-military expenditures.

The 1938 or 1939 "ordinary budget" in Germany undoubtedly has climbed higher than the 8,221,000,000 marks of 1935. Economists concede it may have doubled. That still leaves approximately 15 billion marks ($6,000,000,0000) for arms and war expenditures. As an example of where the money went in 1938, more than a million men were mobilized before "Munich" last fall, and 500,000 were employed on the Siegfried line, calling for an enormous expenditure.

As to revenue, the same sources indicate that during 1938 German tax income totaled 17,000,000,000 marks. Loans raised an additional 7,932,000,000 marks. Unemployment insurance premiums raised 1,800,000,000 marks and only 200,000,000 was paid out. (Germany has few idle.) The "flight tax" of 25 per cent of an emigrant's fortune and payment of quarterly portions of the 1,000,000,000-mark penalty imposed on Jews for the Vom Rath assassination meant additional revenue. That still falls four or five billion marks short of a balanced budget.

* * *

Security Issue Sluggish.

IT IS certain that Germany is having trouble raising revenue. Expenses are getting higher. Her export trade is sagging, her imports increasing. The latest 1,500,000,000 mark security issue offered last November did not move as readily as its predecessors.

It is a fair surmise that a new one may be whooped along now during the peak of enthusiasm over the latest conquest. The money can be used.

For lack of ready cash, the government is compelling business men to accept trade vouchers in payment of goods needed by the government departments. They are simply I.O.U.'s. This system amounts to a sort of forced credit, because in Germany no business man can refuse to sell to the government, cash or no cash.

Pressure is increasing on all fronts from within and from without. The 25 per cent penalty tariff imposed by the U. S. on German goods shocked Berlin.

And yet officials here insist that outside economic pressure is a slow tool, and not likely to be the one to divert the course of Germany.

MAP-MAKER'S DILEMMA

Future of Neutrality Act In Doubt

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—A real battle over the neutrality legislation, with both the president and the extreme isolationists wanting to amend the present law in highly conflicting ways, looms on Capitol Hill.

"Der Tag" still waits around the corner. It didn't happen this time. Ethiopia, Spain, Austria, Munich and finally the dissolution of Czechoslovakia, each made its crisis, but each passed, leaving each time a little more fear, a little more certainty, that war was coming. Each, while scaring the world to death, revives all the old issues and bitterness which were fought over when the original neutrality law was enacted two years ago—isolation versus collective security — trade versus neutrality —national pride versus international peace.

The present act satisfies no one of the special groups and interests involved. A strong minority in congress feels that it gives the president too much power in leaving to his discretion the declaration of a state of war which declaration determines whether the embargoes and other restrictions become effective, and when. (For instance he has never recognized that the situation in China is war, technically, within the means of the neutrality act.)

* * *

PRESIDENT Roosevelt maintains the present law ties his hands too closely, thinks he should have the power to pick and choose between belligerents, to embargo a commodity to one fighting nation and not to the other, to have power to determine what articles shall be classified as "was supplies." In short —power to settle our whole foreign policy.

The policy of the administration, and of the state department, since 1914 for that matter, regardless of the political label of the occupant of the White House, has been that United States interests are closely akin to those of Britain and France. The president feels keenly that this country's danger are increased in almost direct ratio as the dangers of the two big western Europe democracies become more menacing. This is a long range view held by many Americans, made more vivid at present by numerous angles—religious freedom, resentment at aggression, objection to dictatorships, etc.

BUT—congress will not go along with the president on this. It will not importantly increase his discretion in neutrality administration. The little group led by Senators Bennett Champ Clark and Gerald Nye, that wants to deprive him of all discretion, will not make any gains. But neither will the larger group which believes the best interests of the country can be served only by allowing more discretion to the White House. Too many members of congress are convinced that discretionary decisions AFTER the outbreak of a war in Europe MUST involve side-taking, hence MAY involve the United States in the conflict.

It is argued in defense of discretion for the president that a mandatory law embargoing shipments to belligerents with an even hand is anything but neutral, works gross injustice. As in Spain against the loyalists.

* * *

ANYTHING can come out of the neutrality situation on Capitol Hill. But with the peace-at-any-price seniment in the country, as shown by polls, so potent in convincing nervous vote seekers, the best bet seems to be that while there may be modifications, they will not be important, and certainly will not provide an intelligent solution of the problem.

One thing may be depended upon. The Ludlow resolution, providing for a referendum before this country goes to war, will not pass. It could not possibly muster the two-thirds majority in both houses of congress necessary to pass it over a presidential veto. Besides, if it were law, it would make little difference. The country would probably be reading casualty lists before the vote taking machinery could be set up.

As Others See It

Not Unlikely.

It won't be surprising, a year or two hence, if the names in the big black headlines are all new.—Toledo Blade.

Listen, World!

Regular Guys . . . Or a Flock of Phonies?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARE WE AMERICANS JUST A BUNCH OF KIBITZERS? Nosey Lookers-on . . . big-mouthed Critics . . . flashy Fakers and pompous Pretenders . . . but not an honest-to-goodness GO-GETTER to a carload—?

Young Jack Infield of Milwaukee, Wis., would like to know. Jack's just 22 and chockful of pride in his country and faith in his fellow-citizens. But he's beginning to wonder.

Are we the real goods—

OR JUST A FLOCK OF PHONIES?

Young Jack asks—and all his generation asks with him. That's why his letter is being published here. Many will be irritated by it . . . will wonder "what the world is coming to if young squirts can talk like this about their nation." I can't answer them. I don't know what the world is coming to. But I'm quite sure that it would come to much braver and more honest heights if we all had the courage to think as straight as this youngster. Says he—

"There's a new disease sweeping America — SPECTATORITIS. Meaning, we've become a nation of WATCHERS—not DOERS. We spend our time LOOKING ON . . . instead of TAKING PART.

"Have you ever noticed these silly fashions for women that they call 'SPECTATOR SPORTS'? Those fashions . . . with their tissue-thin blouses and three-inch heels . . . are a symptom of what I mean. They are cut to resemble real sports clothes but they have actually about as much resemblance to REGULAR SPORTS as a cream puff has to a machine gun. Our "cowboy" radio choruses are another symbol. Most of those fellows have never been any nearer a "wild west range" than 42nd street. Yet we swallow their stuff, hook, bait and sinker.

"We Americans used to be THE REAL GOODS. We were so real we had the laugh on all the world. When the World War came along, the Yanks made the other volunteers look like pikers. A Yank could do practically everything. Now, since we've come to depend on machines or stooges to do everything for us, we're as helpless as babies.

"EVERYTHING IS HANDED TO US ON A PLATTER. WE EVEN GET OUR LAUGHS READY MADE. A FEW PEOPLE DO ALL THE REAL THINKING AND ACTING FOR AMERICA. THE REST OF US JUST DO AS WE ARE TOLD. NO WONDER WE HAVE BECOME THE WORLD'S GREATEST SUCKERS, READY TO BELIEVE ANYTHING THAT IS HANDED TO US . . . SWALLOWING ANY NEW ISM THAT COMES ALONG.

"I challenge my fellow young Americans to take active interest in our national life and participate in our government. Let's learn to think for ourselves! Let's be willing to do our parts in bringing better government to all! OR ELSE PREPARE TO TAKE IT ON THE CHIN!"

Jack Infield—22,
Milwaukee, Wis.

There's a letter that should stand as a challenge to every American citizen and deserves to be read into our Congressional Record. Washington would have applauded that youngster's challenge . . . so would Franklin. Jackson, Lincoln. What are YOU going to do about it?

Throw it into the waste basket—OR START TODAY TO DO A JOB ON YOURSELF?

TODAY IN HISTORY

A disastrous fire at the Triangle Waist factory, New York, on March 25, 1911, took the lives of 148 persons.

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

UNTIL this week, Augmentor-of-the-Reich Adolf Hitler never had taken a seaport. But he had not been halted yet. So he boarded a battleship and sailed into Memel, little Lithuania's only port.

It was a pushover. Surrounding its fisheries is a farm and timber district, tinier than Rhode Island, which once was Germany's. It went with the port.

First, German troops were reported moving that way. Then, Lithuanian Foreign Minister Juozas Usbys conferred in Berlin with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop. Later, dispatches indicated that Germany had, in effect, told Lithuania: "Give us Memel, or we'll take your whole country! And shut up, or we'll bomb your capital!"

Lithuania got a non-aggression pact with Germany out of the deal. And the British—as they say of their House of Peers—"did nothing in particular, and did it very well."

Der Fuehrer had paused only briefly for applause on his return to Berlin last Sunday after acquiring, without battling or debating, the great Skoda gun factories, at least 1,500 war planes, and all the other vast resources of the Czechs and Slovaks. By then:

America had condemned his "temporary extinguishment of the liberties" of those peoples and slapped an extra 25 per cent tariff on German goods.

Britain had protested his "complete repudiation of the Munich agreement," called its ambassador home, and decided to "stop Hitler."

France had done the same as Britain, made Premier Daladier a dictator for eight months, and started secret, drastic defense work.

Russia, too, had refused to recognize Germany's "arbitrary, violent and aggressive" action — and become chummy with democracies.

But Hitler brushed protests aside. His ambassadors at London and Paris sped home. And on he went.

QUOTES

Sen. Pat Harrison, economy advocate: "With the foreign situation most delicate, and our own domestic problems demanding courage and requiring our united efforts, we cannot afford to have misunderstandings among ourselves."

Dr. Robert Ley, German labor chief: "The thought of pensions and 'rentes' for the aged must be banished from our people. Our highest goal must be that of being able to work even at 80."

At Home

Youthful Nominee.

As SEC's chairman, William O. Douglas decorated his office with a sketch of Louis D. Brandeis. And this week President Roosevelt offered Brandeis's place on the supreme court to Douglas.

Not since 1812 had anyone so young been chosen. Only 40, Douglas is a slight, lean-faced, sandy-haired, pipe-smoking lawyer, summoned to Washington from Yale's faculty four years ago by Joseph B. Kennedy. Born in Minnesota, educated in Washington, he had bummed his way to New York, learned the ropes in Wall Street and become an authority on corporation bankruptcies.

* * *

Arms and Neutrality.

In the next two years, the defense program which congress is rushing through is expected to make America's land, sea and air might greater than it ever has been. Boys to be trained as pilots are being recruited already.

This week congress sent the president a $358,000,000 army expansion bill — authorizing an air corps of 6,000 planes and providing for Panama defenses and "educational" industrial orders. And the house passed a $185,672,029 deficiency appropriation — most of which was for defense purposes.

But President Roosevelt thinks there are means "short of war, but stronger and more effective than mere words, of bringing home to aggressor nations the aggregate sentiments of our people." And he wants a flexible neutrality law.

* * *

On the Labor Front.

AFL'S John P. Frey charged recently that CIO's first peace proposals "were identical to those prepared by the Communist party, with Moscow's approval, two years ago." CIO's John L. Lewis boomed back that his outfit didn't intend to dissolve as the quid pro quo of becoming associated with AFL. But palavering continued.

The senate labor committee deferred action on proposed amendments to the labor relations law. And the senate civil liberties committee, reporting employers who refuse to bargain with unions often have "arsenals" of offensive weapons, urged restrictive legislation.

* * *

Garner's Position.

Elliott Roosevelt, the president's son, recently declared Vice President Garner was leading the race for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940. And to sounder-outers, Garner has been citing his declaration in 1932 that "nearly all of our civic troubles are the consequence of government's departure from its legitimate functions."

* * *

Spy Sentences.

A Russian travel bureau manager and a former navy intelligence agent were fined and sent to prison—for six and four years, respectively—this week in Los Angeles. They were charged with having filched information about Japanese activities from the U. S. navy's secret files in Moscow. It was lucky for them, said the judge, that they didn't do it in time of war.

* * *

'Squeal' Sentences.

Sleek, cheerful "Dixie" Davis, once the lawyer for "Dutch" Schultz's New York gang, was sentenced this week to a year in jail. His testimony had helped convict Tammany Leader "Jimmy" Hines of protecting the gang. And the next day, Hines received his sentence—four to eight years.

Abroad

Oil Day Oration.

With banners and barbecues last week-end, Mexicans celebrated their "economic emancipation." One year previous, President Lazaro Cardenas's government had seized foreigners' oil properties. Oil production had dropped and Mexico's troubles had multiplied.

But, to 35,000 celebrants, Cardenas indicated his controversy with the oil firms was likely to be settled soon. But the oil men still saw "practical difficulties."

* * *

Uruguay's Free Speech.

A reminder that many American republics are less than 100 per cent democratic was offered this week when anti-Fascist, left-wing delegates of the International Congress for the Democracy of America met in Montevideo. Several Latin-American governments tried to have the meeting banned. Finally, Uruguay compromised by permitting it to be held on condition that delegates not criticize, by name, any foreign power.

* * *

Strife In Syria.

Syria, a former Turkish province, is about the size of New York state but less than half as many people live there is in New York City. Many of those people want independence. France has a League of Nations mandate to handle Syria. And because the French parliament had not ratified a 1936 treaty by which France promised the Syrians freedom, there were bloody riots this week in Damascus and Homs. French troops then took over the duties of Syrian police.

People

Tough Guy Enthroned.

Now 54, Premier Edouard Daladier is the "tough guy" of French politics. Thick-necked and often untidy, he rides roughshod over opposition and roars that national defense is Public Problem No. 1.

Only five years ago, Daladier was blasted out of office by Stavisky scandal riots. He returned to power last April. And last week-end the French parliament surrendered virtually all its power to him.

On April 5, the national assembly may elect a president. If Daladier wants the job, dopesters say, he can have it.

* * *

The Baron Is Boss.

Bohemia and Moravia have no parliament now. They are ruled by Reichs - Protector Konstantin von Neurath, who is responsible only to Der Fuehrer. Consequently, the U. S. legation in Prague has been closed, even though the Czechs still have a legation in Washington.

Baron von Neurath was a popular vice-consul in London before the World war. Then he became the kaiser's envoy to Constantinople. After the war, he went to Rome and laid the foundation for German-Italian friendship. He was foreign minister before Hitler was enthroned, and of late he has headed Hitler's secret cabinet counicl.

Science

Muscle Strengthening.

People who yearn to "take something" to make them stronger now may be appeased with a third of a cup of dry gelatine dissolved in fruit juice. Long Island College of Medicine reports that the endurance of bicycle riders jumped 25 per cent when they drank it daily. Possible explanation is that gelatine contains glycerine, which is known to make muscles contract more easily.

* * *

Steak Softening.

For centuries butchers have known only one sure way to tenderize tough beef steak—and it was tedious. The steak was hung in a cool place for a month or so, until tough connective tissues broke down naturally. Now, the Mellon institute says tissues can be broken down in 48 hours, by applying heat and ultra violet rays.

SURRENDER OF MADRID NEARS

City to Yield to Insurgents Unconditionally; Franco To March In Tomorrow.

Madrid front, forecast that Franco's troops would attack Madrid in full force "within the next few hours" unless attack orders already issued were countermanded.)

The nationalist defense council, which rules republican Spain—one fourth of continental Spain—met last night in Gen. Jose Miaja's office.

The atmosphere in corridors outside the council room, where minor officials constantly were coming and going, was described as one of "tranquil joy" in a dispatch from Madrid.

The council considered results of a peace mission which made a secret flight to Franco's capital to arrange the surrender.

According to advices reaching the frontier, terms of the surrender were simple.

The national defense council will remove all mines from fortified and civilian areas, demobilize the republican army and publish a declaration recognizing the nationalist government as the only legitimate government of Spain.

The only thing said to have been asked in return by the Madrid regime was that a handful of its leaders be furnished means of leaving Spain. Whether this request was granted was not known.

It was considered significant that the only denials issued at Burgos concerned the identity of two reported negotiators and a report that a "complete accord" had been reached.

door of the bank carrying a rifle in one hand and a bag containing more than $2,000 in the other.

Powell townspeople, warned of Durand's return by gunfire inside the bank, greeted the slayer's appearance at the door with a fusillade of shots. The slayer's answering blasts nicked the ear of one startled witness and endangered others before he was felled.

The fugitive had driven to the bank in an automobile commandered from Harry Moore, Cody amateur radio operator, whom he had forced to drive him to his parents' home and other points in the Powell flats. At his home Durand joked with his amazed parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Durand, respected ranchers.

At that time possemen were seeking Durand high on the slopes of Sawtooth mountain.

Bob Nelson, president of the bank, said Durand, looking "a bit wild," stepped into the bank and said "hello, Nelson," then commanded the four employes and five customers in the bank to "stick up your hands!"

The bank president said all nine lined up facing the wall while Durand scooped up between $2,000 and $3,000 into some money bags.

* * *

Nelson related that Durand, after ordering Cashier Maurice Knutson to open the vault and being told that a time lock prevented it, began firing shots into the walls.

Then he tied Nelson Knutson and another bank employe together with rawhide thongs and used them as a shield in his futile effort to get away from the bank.

Durand was shot soon after he and his human shield emerged onto the sidewalk.

"All Knutson and I could do was stand there, tied with the thongs," Nelson recounted.

"Then Durand fell, wounded. He went down with a grunt. Then he started crawling back into the bank. He got back several feet. Then he tugged at the revolver in his hoster and pulled out his revolver. He shot himself dead."

WINS DISMISSAL

Ashland Defendant Victor In Court of Appeals Ruling.

ASHLAND—Harley Moherman, recently tried in common pleas court, and found guilty of assault, after being bound over to the grand jury and tried on an indictment on pointing firearms, had the action against dismissed when the court of appeals to which the decision had been carried, reversed the decision of the lower court.

The reversal of the verdict by the higher court relieves Moherman of the $25 fine, suspended 30 days in jail which had been imposed on him, and also of the court costs.

In the decision of the court of appeals, the lower court was held in error in charging the jury to bring in a verdict for assault, and ruled that the verdict itself was inconsistant with the indictment.

A Farmer's Diary

Sowing Clover Seed.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

JUST at dawn I saw my neighbor in his wheat field. He stood beside a clean white sack, which was less than two-thirds full, and looked north along the green expanse of the field. I noticed a line of three stakes at regular intervals to the farther end, with white rags on the tops. The air was calm—not the slightest motion of leaf or twig. My neighbor partially filled his fiddle seeder, which was strapped across his shoulder and extended part way down his chest. As he moved the bow back and forth, it released a portion of the seed and the small whirling metal fan scattered the precious grains along a path sixteen feet or more in width.

Northward I saw him go, stepping lively, keeping rhythm between his feet and the fast moving bow. The little hollows of the field shut out his moving figure, then I saw him climb, more slowly, up the other side. When he reached the top, he stopped, pulled out the white-capped stake, paced several steps to one side, and thrust it into the ground again. Then he retraced his steps and proceeded to the northern end.

I watched him adjust the farther poles, and start back. As he approached, the bow and his feet were in such perfect rhythm that I found myself stepping back and forth, and moving an imaginary bow. He came up to where I stood by the old rail fence, and the fine alsike clover seed scattered on the ground in a misty shower.

"Good morning," said I.

"Good mornin' yourself." He drew his boots across a sharp-edged rail and great hunks of mud fell among the leaves and grass. "Tough going, but it's a wonderful mornin' to sow. I been waitin' a week for still weather. If it stays like this two more hours, I'll be done. D'ye see them clouds in the east? Likely bad weather ahead. When this seed is sowed, I don't care. Haven't had my breakfast yet, but I can eat when the wind blows harder."

Quickly he turned about and I saw him fiddling vigorously as I went on. The lively showers of seed fell on the rich moist earth. I thought aloud, "I'll have to sow my own seed on spring-plowed soil this year."

Don't Read Gehrig Out of Yankee Lineup Too Early

LOU . . . not so pert.

But Columbia Lou, Already 36, Is Aging Fast, and Young Tom Henrich Is Ready.

By DILLON GRAHAM

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Perhaps you read that little trainingcamp brief which said Marse Joe McCarthy was using Tom Henrich occasionally at first base.

Well, that's the tipoff on Lou Gehrig. Lou is 36 and is getting no younger fast. His record string of 2,122 consecutive games has taken a lot out of the Iron Horse's legs.

Frankly, he doesn't look so pert this spring. Skipper McCarthy professes not to be worried. He says Lou has another year or two of good ball-playing in him before the Yankees have to rope in another first-baseman.

Tom Relief Man.

McCarthy really doesn't care to discuss the Gehrig situation. The story is that he is drilling Tom so that he can replace Lou at first in the late innings of games that the Yankees have already won and save a bit of the wear and tear on Lou's legs.

That doubtless is McCarthy's plan—if Lou holds up.

When Henrich was first obtained two years ago, McCarthy said he'd be Lou's successor. In the meantime he'd play the outfield. He hit .320 in his first year with the Yanks. Last season he dropped to .270 but hit plenty of home runs and knocked in 91 runs, and that's good enough, even for the Yankees.

With Henrich due for at least part-time duty at first base, the Yankees will carry six outfielders. Selkirk, DiMaggio, Henrich and Powell will be holdovers and Charlie Keller from Newark and Joe Gallagher from Kansas City probably will be the others.

Gehrig slowed down noticeably last year but some said it was because he wasn't in the best of shape. Those months in Hollywood when he was making the movie epic, "Rawhide," didn't do Lou any good. For the first time since 1925 Lou batted under .300. His average was .295. But remember that while that may have seemed poor for Gehrig it still would have been regarded as a fine batting mark for most any other first-baseman. For Lou hit more than 20 homers and knocked in 114 runs.

Help May Help.

It's quite possible that if Henrich does replace him in games the Yankees have sewed up that Lou may finish the coming season with a pretty fair average. If he doesn't have to tire himself out charging through every game, he'll probably have strength enough to turn in a respectable season, even for a Gehrig. So don't read Lou out of the lineup just yet.

TOM . . . good enough.

Fractured Skull Benches Frasier

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Just when Manager Jimmy Dykes figured the injury jinx was on the run Pitcher Vic Frasier has suffered a fractured skull, placing him on the shelf for at least two months.

Frazier was hit on the head by a thrown ball last Wednesday but no one knew it was anything more serious than a knot on his head until yesterday. The ball, thrown by Shortstop Luke Appling, hit the 33-year-old right-hander behind the left ear.

At the time Frazier only grinned, rubbed his head and a few minutes later went out and pitched four innings against the Pittsburgh Pirates, giving up only one hit.

The next day, however, he complained of headaches and he was put to bed after x-rays were made. Friday an examination of the picture revealed the fracture.

Ohio, Michigan In 'Dog Fight'

Stage Two-Team Battle For N.C.A.A. Tank Title.

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—The old western conference athletic rivals, Michigan and Ohio State, were involved in another dog fight today as the 16th annual national collegiate swimming championships moved into the final day.

With six of the 11 events completed, Michigan, seeking its sixth straight N. C. A. A. title, had 34 points to Ohio State's 30 and there was every indication that the teams would drive down to the final event—the 400-yard free style relay—neck and neck. During the regular season Michigan and Ohio State twice tied in dual meets, but in the Big Ten championships the Wolverines routed the Buckeyes.

Elks Defeated By Galion Club

By CHARLES MARTIN

TWO of the three Mansfield amateur quintets that participated in the opening round games of The News-Journal-Y. M. C. A. Gold Medal basketball tournament last night safely hurdled their first obstacles.

They are the Yuncker Sports, pre-tourney favorites and defending champions, and the Blue Goose Sohioans, and judging from the powerhouse attacks displayed last night, both outfits will be hard to stop. The Sports won the title last year under the Jimmy Lunches banner.

The Sports, City Class A league champions, broke loose with a thrilling last-period backboard bombardment to dust off Earl's Dairys of Marion, 52 to 38, while the Blue Goose club of the Friendly House Senior league walloped the Ashland Merchants, 58 to 34.

Loses By Six Points.

The Elks Lodge team, the only Mansfield team to lose last night, bowed to the Winter's Gulf Oils of Galion by a 42 to 36 count.

Manager Jimmy Breres' aggregation, still smarting from two successive setbacks in as many tournaments, never trailed last night, but for three periods found itself in an uncomfortable position.

Paced by Al Stickler, who took individual honors with 24 points, the Sports piled up a commanding 10-point lead in the opening half, and when it looked as though they had the issue sewed up, the Marion outfit came to life.

The Dairys matched the Sports point for point in the early minutes of the final period, but Harold Hayfer, Johnny Reese and Stickler started hitting from any spot on the court as the winners piled up a huge lead.

Marion was trailing, 37-34, in the final frame when the fireworks began, and before the invaders could set up a defense to cope with the situation the Sports held a 50-36 lead.

The Sports were ahead, 15 to 5, in the opening stanza, 24 to 14 at the intermission and 32 to 29 at the end of three quarters. Reese trailed Stickler in the scoring column with 17 points, while Earl topped the Marion attack with 12 markers.

With Kenny Lockhart leading the way, the Sohioans made short work of the Ashland team. A whirlwind first-period attack gave the Blue Goose machine a 12-point lead, and from there on in it was a matter of how many points it would score.

The Sohioans had a little trouble in throttling Slater, the Merchants' center, but his scoring exhibition failed to cause any serious damage. Slater, an Ashland college freshman, set the tempo with 19 points

Blue Goose led, 21-9, in the initial period, 36 to 17 at the half, and 46-25 going into the final quarter.

Trouble in locating the basket in the opening half cost the Elks an opportunity of emerging with a victory in the middle tussle.

The Lodgemen were behind, 24 to 11, at the rest period, and although they were unable to whittle down the winners' margin in the third, suddenly began clicking.

With Tom Farrell setting the pace, the Elks climbed within six points of the lead, but didn't have the power to overtake the winners.

Galion sported a 14 to 5 lead in the first quarter, and was leading 32 to 17 at the end of the third chapter.

Shoemaker was high-point man for Galion with 13 markers.

Hostilities will be resumed Thursday night with a three-game program. The Westinghouse Electrics face the Ashland Bobcats at 7:30, Yunckers tackle the Blue Goose in the second affair and Johns Park and the Snappy Service five of Marion meet in the final melee at 9:30. The semi-finals and finals will be played on Friday night.

MRS. EUGENIA SHORROCK of Quincy, Mass., is known as the foremost woman herpetologist, and she has brought to the Sportsmen's Show at Columbus Auditorium, Columbus, O., a collection of snakes of unusual character. An Indian python that weighs 35 pounds and is fifteen feet long is a new addition to the collection this year. The most colorful snake is the emerald or green boa from South America. The longest is the anaconda, or water boa, 25 feet in length, found in the Guineas, Brazil, and Peru. The laziest, but the fastest is the popularly known boa constrictor, which only displays its speed in seizing food, when its movements are so fast they cannot be followed by the eye. The most unique snake is the golden banana boa, of Cuba, which bleeds from the eyes when excited.

The ferrules on your fishing rods will wear longer if kept clean and free from minute grit particles. Never use oil on ferrules, keep them clean and lubricate them by rubbing through the hair or against the nose. Don't use the oil can or you will have trouble because of the increased suction generated by the excess oil.

One of the "slickest" ideas in minnow buckets, is the new self-aerating bucket, just received at Yuncker's. By an ingenious arrangement in the bottom, a slight movement of the minnow pail causes air bubbles to rise from a jet at the bottom. Even the motion of your motor car, when transporting minnows in this bucket, causes a constant aeration that keeps your minnows lively.

The Crawford County Coon Hunters' association will stage a coon chase at the fair grounds, Bucyrus, Ohio, on Sunday, March 26th. The various events will start at 10 a. m. and continue all day. P. T. Helfrich of Galion, association secretary, states that some of the best chase dogs in the state will compete for the $65 purse. The meeting is an annual event which attracts sportsmen from many sections. The proceeds are used to restock coon in Crawford county by the association. Women and children are admitted free. Lunch and refreshments are served on the grounds. Last year 68 raccoons were released by the organization. The second coon chase of the season is set for April, 23.

Hudlin Signs; Indians Play Giants Today

Harder to Face Terriers, Feller Due Sunday.

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(U.P.)—With Pitcher Willis Hudlin the last Indian holdout, signed on the dotted line, the Cleveland Indians engaged the New York Giants today in the first game of the annual renewal of their spring training series.

The top hurlers of each club were drawn for mound duty in the two games this week-end. Mel Harder of the Tribe faced Hal Schumacher or the Giants today while Carl Hubbell of the Giants will oppose Bob Feller of the Indians Sunday. The two clubs play each other nine times this spring.

Ready In Week.

The veteran Hudlin signed for his 12th season with the Indians. He has conditioned himself at Hot Springs, Ark., and expects to be ready to pitch within a week.

"I'm going to work on a straight salary," Hudlin said. "It's the way I wanted it." A bonus agreement caused the club and Hudlin several temperamental headaches last year.

Harder and Feller were expected to pitch four or five innings each today. The Giant aces can work as long as they feel fit, according to Manager Bill Terry.

Rollie Hemsley caught Harder today and Frankie Pytlak, who staged a 12-hour walkout this week, will be behind the plate for Feller Sunday.

Just Their Turn.

"It just happens to be their turn to work that way," declared Manager Oscar Vitt of the Tribe. "It doesn't have a thing to do with the trouble we had with Frankie. That's forgotten." Hemsley was used as "Feller's catcher" laegaat regarded as "Feller's catcher" last season.

A second Indian squad plays Nashville today and Sunday at Monroe, La.

Dodgers Hammer 'Hutch' From Box

LAKELAND, Fla.—(U.P.)—Freddy Hutchinson, one of the most publicized rookies of the pre-training season, was the most forlorn youngster in the Detroit Tigers' camp today.

Freddy, who came from Seattle to the Tigers at a cost of $50,000 and four players, made his second start as a major leaguer against the Dodgers yesterday and was hammered from the box in the second inning. In his first start against Washigton last Saturday, he was reached for seven hits and two runs in five innings.

The 19-year-old righthander allowed only one hit to Brooklyn in the first inning, but the Gowanus Gamboliers made hay in the second frame and Hutch wilted under a three run barrage. The Tigers came back with two runs in the eighth to win 6-4.

'DO OR DIE' TONIGHT

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The newly inspired Barons were all set today to do or die for dear old Cleveland in the all-important final game of the third-place playoffs in the International-American hockey league tonight. Now standing all square with the Springfield Indians, with one game apiece the Barons either will hang up their sticks for the season or move on to bigger and better things depending on the outcome tonight.

Funeral Director's Bowling Ball Far From Dead In A.B.C.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — An unassuming sort of fellow, Cone Hermann of St Louis, whose bowling ball is anything but pretentious en route to the pocket, held the spotlight today in the American Bowling Congress.

The 36-year-old funeral director, who with a brother sponsors 15 bowling teams in St. Louis, shuffled the standings in three divisions yesterday.

He collected an aggregate of 1,914 pins to take the lead in the all events, hitting a second-place 696 in the singles and teaming with Renard Heydt to corral 1,265 for the No. 3 spot in the doubles. In the initial team event, Hermann chalked up an unimpressive 523 on Thursday.

The 5-foot-7 kegler, whose name was shortened from Cornelius, scored games of 223, 227 and 245 for a doubles count of 695. In the singles he tallied 235, 215 and 246.

Old Frankenmuth Beers of Detroit climbed into first place in the five-man event last night with a total of 2,957. J. Damico anchor man, led the assault with a 642. The Detroiters took the top position from the F. Ziehm undertakers of Cleveland, who scored 2,921.

Ed Swigart Topples 688 for New Record

Rolls Games of 203, 219 and 236 to Establish New Season Mark In Ohio Brass League.

A NEW season individual record was established in the Ohio Brass league at the Meder alleys last night by Ed Swigart of the Maintenance quintet.

Swigart battered the uprights for a snappy 688 series. He opened with a 203, jumped to 249 in his middle game and climaxed his spectacular series with a 236.

Swigart's hefty total enabled the Maintenance club to reach the 2653 figure, but only one victory was scored over the Insulators, led by Dan Nagle's 614.

Art Hilborn was high man in the Moose Home league last night with a 642 total, which featured a 262 game. Hilborn collected nine straight strikes in his big game, then "chopped."

Hilborn's No. 4 team won only one game from No. 5, however. Brig Young was high for the winners with an even 600.

Edward (Babe) Meder, who set a new season record for the alleys last week with a 767, came through with a 631 for No. 6 last night. No. 6 took two games from No. 1.

BOWL IN TOURNEY

The Mansfield Rug & Linoleum and Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company bowling teams will roll in the Inter-City tournament in Findlay at 1 p. m., Sunday.

Referee Forgets to Duck . . . So Sexton Loses

FARMER FRANKIE SEXTON'S hopes for a crack at the world's heavyweight wrestling toga were scattered to the four winds last night at Tim Nolan's Quality club wrestling show—all because Referee Clarence Miller forgot to duck.

Even up at a fall apiece with Leon (the Raving Russian) Grandovitch, the Sedalia smoothie, apparently, had victory in his grasp as he twirled the burly Red above his head in an airplane spin during the third fall.

But, alas, as he spun Leon around, he knocked Miller out of the ring and "out" so that when he slammed the Russian to the floor and pinned him for a good half minute, Miller didn't see it.

By the time the spectators dragged Miller into the ring and by the time he was able to see, Grandovitch was on top and stayed there long enough to get the nod from the referee much to the disgust of the fans. All the arguing and pleading of fans in the ring and Sexton didn't change the decision.

Grandovitch took the first fall with a bear hug in 17 minutes, while Sexton took the second with two rights to the chin, a hair pull and top body press in eight minutes of furious action.

Steve Bubysnus, the Schenectady Adonis, took hig and Ugly Tommy Marvin in two straight falls in the semi-final. The New Yorker got the first decision in 17 minutes with a kangaroo kick and top body press, while the second one came in eight minutes following an exchange of rights, an eye gouge and body slam.

Clete Welch, with the help of the "Lady In Red" and another feminine companion, took Sailor Durante in a one-fall preliminary in 22 minutes. An exchange of bites, the Sailor to Welch's ear and Clete to Durante's toe, followed by a shoulder tickle and fancy bounce gave the decision to the hero.

The McCarrick brothers, Jack and Bob, drew with their opponents in two amateur preliminaries. Bob, who is just 14, and Fuzzy Miller, also 14, mixed in for ten minutes, with the lighter Miller having the advantage until he tired. Fred Urchell, 13, and Jack, 13, also battled to a draw with McCarrick having a slight advantage by virtue of his aggressiveness.

THEATERS

WITH the two first-run Warner theaters going on a double feature schedule tomorrow, Mansfielders will see two full length features instead of one regardless of where they go. Managers point out to the critics of the new policy that it isn't necessary to sit through both features if they don't want to. They can call the theater box office find out the time for the one feature they do want to see. The policy is being used in many theaters over the country.

* * *

"Gunga Din."

The Ohio actually starts the new policy as the bill will change there on Saturdays. The first double-feature brings one of the top pictures of the season "Gunga Din" with Victor McLaglen, Cary Grant and Douglas Fairbanks picture The title role is played by Sam Jaffe and did the old Lama in "Lost Horizon" The Kipling story is backed with the English army in India during the most stirring days and military adventures. Joan Fontaine provides the only heart interest. "The Lady and The Mob" with Fay Bainter, is distinguished by its original touch of having a gentle old lady as the gang buster this time.

"Cafe Society."

The much-publicized glittery mob that makes up New York's "Cafe Society" has crashed Hollywood and comes to the Madison screen in a midnight matinee tonight. Madeleine Carroll, who would be interesting in cafe or riverfront society, plays the lead, with Fred MacMurray opposite her Glamor, excitement, scandal and extravagant living rides through this satirical comedy of a spoiled society girl who weds a hardworking, hard boiled newspaperman. Shirley Ross is also in the cast. "King of Chinatown" brings that capable Chinese actress, Anna May Wong. Supporting her is Akim Tamiroff.

"Valley of the Giants."

A story of an outdoor romance in the giant redwoods of California, and a rollicking comedy with juvenile players will be found on the Ritz bill for the first of the week. "The Valley of The Giants" is Peter B. Kyne's popular novel of several years ago. Charles Bickford as the ruthless lumber pirate, Wayne Morris as the young millman and Claire Trevor as the girl who is sent to entrap him, are the principals in the cast. "Listen Darling" shows two younghters, Freddy Bartholomew and Judy Garland, pinchitting for Cupid when they kidnap their mother to keep her from marrying the wrong man.

* * *

"Jane Arden."

The Majestic program for Sunday and Monday introduces a new screen character, but one who is familiar to thousands of newspaper readers. She is Jane Arden, newspaper woman. The first of the series, "The Adventures of Jane Arden" introduces the very pretty newcomer, Rosella Towne, as the reporter. William Gargan and James Stephenson are featured. The second feature is "Give Me A Sailor" with Martha Raye and Bob Hope, Betty Grable and Jack Whiting. Whiting is an Englishman who has fluttered feminine hearts on the other side of the pond.

"My Wife's Relatives."

The Gleason family joins forces once more to make a family serial and their latest work is in the Higgins Family series, which opens at the Park Sunday. "My Wife's Relatives," the first of the series, is shown in Mansfield for the first time. James Gleason, Lucile Gleason and son Russell Gleason, one of filmdom's most famous families, portray those same roles of father, mother and son in the picture. Mary Hart plays the daughter of the family. Another spy drama, "Smashing The Spy Ring," with Fay Wray and Ralph Bellamy, is the second feature.

STOCK MARKET IMPROVES IN BRIEF SESSION

Merchandise, Utility Shares Spurred by Developments; Motor Sales Up.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Small advances predominated in today's brief stock market proceedings, but many issues were unable to extend Friday's upturn.

Improvement was registered for Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, North American, Standard Oil of N. J., Santa Fe and American Telephone.

An aid to merchandising shares was seen in the survey of the federal reserve board showing department store sales for the week ended March 18 topped the corresponding week last year by 5 per cent.

Favoring utilities were estimates electric power output was running at a record level for this season of the year.

Interest was expressed in the summary of the automobile manufacturers' association placing retail sales of passenger cars and trucks in the first two months of this year at 419,256 units, an expansion of 35 per cent over the similar 1938 period.

Cunningham had been a respected though slightly eccentric member of the young society set here for several years. His father was the late Dr. S. R. Cunningham, widely-known orthopedic surgeon on the faculty of the University of Oklahoma. His mother, who died only a few years ago, was socially prominent, a patron of the arts, and the family had been considered well-to-do.

He has an older brother, who is a physician in Milwaukee, Wis.

Mrs. Cunningham's step father, J. P. Stokes, is wealthy. He owns much property and has developed several real estate subdivisions.

500 From City To Go To Cleveland For Grand Operas

Mansfield will do more than its share to support the performances of the Metropolitan Opera company sponsored by the Northern Ohio Grand Opera association at Cleveland next week, for more than 425 music lovers have already reserved seats for the various operas.

They will go by train and by motor. Some have reserved for the week others for two and three performances while the majority will be content with one opera.

Most popular with Mansfield music devotees are "Otello" which opens the week on Monday night, with Martinelli and Jepson; and "Lucia de Lammermoor" on Saturday night of next week, which brings the season to a close. Lily Pons is the star of "Lucia."

The only appearance of John Charles Thomas this season will be in "Thais" with Jepson on Thursday evening. One of this year's sensations is Marjorie Lawrence, the new "stream-lined" soprano of the Metropolitan who, with Lawrence Tibbett will sing in "La Tosca" Saturday afternoon.

A highlight of the week will be "Louise" on Tuesday evening, for besides Grace Moore and Charles Kullman, it introduces the new Met ballet, with beautiful Maria Gamberella, premier dansuese.

While the 425 reservations have been made through Mrs. John S. Jones, Mansfield opera representative, a number of other Mansfielders have ordered tickets through friends in Cleveland, and it is estimated that 500 Mansfielders in all will see the operas this year.

EUROPE TURNS EYES ON ROME

through diplomatic channels in Budapest.

Unique Borrowing Plan.

Germany, meanwhile, coped with her pressing financial problems with a unique plan for borrowing on the future and with new taxes. With the strain on Nazi finance constantly increasing, the government:

1. Put in force a scheme of "tax credit" bills which the government may use in part payment of its debts and holders may use for full payment of taxes. They are in two classes, one that must be held seven months and another that must be held three years before they can be used to pay tax bills.

2. Levied a 30 per cent tax on any increase of incomes in 1938 over those of 1937. Exemptions were allowed persons earnings up to 3,000 marks ($1,200).

In Tokyo, circles close to the Japanese government said Germany was exerting powerful pressure to bring Japan into a military alliance. Although the government was officially silent, belief spread that such a pact might be concluded.

Germany Stands With Italy, Goering Says.

ROME—(INS)—In an interview with the newspaper Popa D'Italia, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering of Germany promised today that Germany will stand beside Italy "at all times and at all costs."

Goering, who now is vacationing in Italy, added that Premier Mussolini is a "gigantic figure in contemporary history."

Hitler Calls More Troops to Colors.

LONDON—(INS)— Chancellor Hitler has called up two classes of the 1936-37 conscripts—a total of 500,000 men—for training until May 31, the London Daily Mail reported from Berlin today.

The paper said the German military occupation of Bohemia and Moravia left large gaps in the reich's home military garrisons.

According to the London News Chronicle Japan has offered to return the mandated Caroline Islands to Germany as a "gesture of goodwill" on condition that the reich will hand the islands back to Japan when Germany has recovered its former colonial possessions from Great Britain and France.

Mines Placed Under Swiss Roads, Bridges.

GENEVA — (INS) — The Swiss government today ordered immediate mining of all roads and bridges along the Swiss-German frontier.

Authorities also decided to mobilize all troops necessary to man the mines. The measure taken by the government were similar to those put into effect during the Czechoslovakian crisis last September.

The government's action bespoke its fears that German expansion may affect the Swiss border. In recent weeks official spokesmen have come out with stern warning that Switzerland would fight any territorial encroachments.

Early this afternoon Swiss troops were mobilizing all along the German frontier, especially in the Rhine district.

Soldiers were transported to their defense posts in trucks which were requisitioned from private industries.

High excitement reigned throughout the country.

Officials said still further mobilization measures were expected later in the day.

1,400 BATTLE FOREST BLAZE

Fire Fighters Seek To Put Out Flames In 17 Counties.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(AP)—More than 1,400 men battled forest and brush fires in 17 West Virginia counties today. State foresters called for more volunteers.

Forestry officials attributed most of the 85 fires reported to careless burning of brush.

A prolonged dry spell created a hazardous situation, which State Forester D. B. Griffin said might get out of control unless rains came soon.

DIRECTOR FIRES WARDEN AT PEN

Sherwood Accuses Woodard Of Head of Granting Favors To Gang Chief, Bankers.

Sherwood had denied that the action against Woodard was motivated by "politics."

Major Winfield S. Pealer, former Columbus Safety Director and attorney for Woodard, said that a fight would be made against the ouster. Woodard was not available immediately for comment.

Woodard, who earlier blamed overcrowded conditions at the institution which houses 4,200 inmates for many of the "unwarranted conditions" listed by Sherwood, also was accused of ordering the transfer of state property to James Woodard, jr., son of the warden who had been a guard at the institution.

Other charges. Storage of firearms and ammunition in unsuitable places; failure to keep an adequate supply of firearms in case of riot or disturbance; failure to segregate perverts; failed to exercise proper care and custody of money given the warden by inmates; postponed the retirement of some guards eligible for retirement.

'Jobs Bought and Sold.'

"Preferred" prison positions for inmates, such as dining room and hospital jobs, Sherwood said, "could be and were bought and sold." He added that there were no rules for search of contrabrand on visistors and trusties who enter and leave the century-old prison; that there was no proper plan for inspection and supervision of tools, knives, files and similar articles used in the institution

Director of Welfare Accuses Veteran Prison Head In Liquor, Drug Traffic.

OUSTER FIGHT PLANNED

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Charged with favoring convicts with wealthy or political affiliations, James C. Woodard was dismissed today as warden of Ohio penitentiary.

Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood in 22 charges filed with the civil service commission also accused the veteran prison head of permitting gambling and bootlegging of narcotics and liquor among prisoners and operating the century-old institution inefficiently.

Will Fight Ouster.

Council for Woodard, head of the prison since 1935 and a member of its staff since 1909, announced they would vigorously fight the ouster, effective April 1.

Pending disposition of the charges, Acting Warden W. F. Amrine, state superintendent of corrections, will remain acting warden. Sherwood said that Amrine would not be appointed to the post permanently.

Amrine conducted the investigation on which dismissal charges were based.

Specifically, Woodard was charged with granting favors to C. Sterling Smith and Kenyon V. Painter, former Cleveland bankers, and Thomas "Yonnie" Licavoli, one-time Toledo gang leader.

Sherwood asserted that Woodard "permitted inmates to acquire, maintain and circulate large sums of money."

As a result of a breakdown in discipline, Sherwood charged, regular gambling games for large sums "operated as a concession by and under the control of certain inmates continued as a daily occurrence."

'Lacks Judgment.'

Woodard also was charged with "lack of judgment in conferring trusty privileges" and with "improper training of guards."

The dismissal order is effective April 1, when the 30-day suspension against Woodard expires. Woodard succeeded Preston E.

Some dispatches from both Burgos and Madrid, the nationalist and republican capitals, indicated that a plan for the almost unconditional surrender of Madrid was so far advanced that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's troops might march into that besieged city today or tomorrow.

EUROPE TURNS EYES ON ROME, DUCE'S PLANS

MUSSOLINI TO SPEAK

Dictator's Address Tomorrow Expected to Bare Italy's Expansion Program.

BULLETIN

IGLO, Slovakia — (AP) — Air and land fighting between Hungarian and Slovak troops was reported today over the Ung river valley, claimed by Hungary as her new frontier line. Bombing of towns and villages behind the fighting zone was attributed to both sides. Losses of life as well as property damage were reported.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Europe's uneasy attention shifted today from Berlin to Rome as Germany set to work to put her enlarged house in order and the ambitions of Italy, her axis partner, came to the fore.

Premier Mussolini was expected to make what may be a momentous address tomorrow in which some observers expected him to present Italy's colonial demands on France.

War's End Near.

This belief was encouraged by reports from Spain which said that final negotiations for the surrender of Madrid to the Spanish nationalists and for peace in the 32-months-old Spanish civil war were nearly completed. An end of the Spanish conflict has been expected to signal a showdown by Italy on her demands on France.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain delayed further efforts to weld a "stop Hitler" bloc until after Mussolini had spoken.

Polish reluctance to join such a front set back British and French plans for joint action by "anti-aggressor nations." But there still was a possibility that Britain, France and Soviet Russia might conclude a triple entente, then seek a separate agreement with Poland.

Semi-official sources in Bratislava said an armistice had been arranged in eastern Slovakia, where Hungarian and Slovak troops have been engaged in border fighting. Germany was understood to be trying to smooth out the dispute on behalf of Slovakia, which has Beglin's protection,

GETS POST BACK

Californian Reinstated on Job By Labor Board.

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The labor relations board reinstated Dr. Towne Nylander today as regional director at Los Angeles.

He was suspended Feb. 27 "pending an investigation of the accuracy" of newspaper accounts of an address he made at Inglewood, Calif., on Feb. 6.

The Inglewood News quoted the regional director as saying, 'when we go into a hearing the employer hasn't got a chance." Nylander contended that what he had said was misinterpreted by the paper's reporter.

The board said an inquiry by Lieutenant Commander James E. Brenner, U. S. navy retired, a law processor at Stanford University, showed no cause for the suspension.

Renew Efforts To Combine Rural School Districts Today

The county board of education, meeting shortly before noon today at the courthouse, was to make another attempt to consolidate rural school districts in Butler, Bloomnggrove, Weller and Franklin townships in compliance with an order from the state department of education.

Boyd Robinson, county superintendent and clerk of the county board, said he would ask the board to determine what can be done about the proposed consolidations which have been a thorn in the side of the county and township boards for more than two years.

It was learned before the meeting that residents of the western half of Bloominggrove township agreed to a consolidation if it could be made with the Shiloh district to the west. They protested at any attempt to send pupils to the Union school in Weller township, Robinson said.

Major opposition continued to come from the Adario district in Butler township where parents and school officials have blocked moves to close the high school and transport pupils to the Union school.

About a dozen board members and interested residents of the district involved in the consolidation wrangle waited outside the county superintendent's office where the board was in session today for news of the board's action.

Raemelton Riders Mix Fun, Contests of Riding Skill

9-Event Program Ranges From Carrying Eggs on Spoons to Biting Doughnuts Off Strings.

The international situation, business depressions, and even Woodland's water system problems were forgotten last night by members of Raemelton Riding club and their guests when the club held its first event at the riding hall in a number of months.

It was a gymkhana program and the events ranged from carrying fresh eggs in spoons above flying hoofs to spearing rings on a lance a la Round Table knights. Only these knights wore trim riding coats and carried wooden lances.

Nine Events On Program.

There were nine events on the program which was witnessed by more than 200 persons, and most of them depended upon dexterous handling of mounts and a time element.

It was really something to see George Draffan, Louis Ott, jr., Henry Huston, Donald Black and the rest of the men riders getting down on the ground and crawling through small barrels, while the sight of dignified Judge Charles H. Huston snapping at a doughnut dangling before his face was something to remember.

The barrel race, which specified that riders must dash to the center of the arena, dismount, crawl through a barrel, remount and race back to a goal, was won by Spencer Draffan, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Draffan, Millsborough road. "Spennie," incidentally, the

BRIDGE ABLAZE

Railroad Span Threatened by Flames, Saved.

A fire believed by Chief Charles J. Seeburger to have started from live coals dropped from a switch engine yesterday damaged a railroad bridge over the Rocky Fork creeks at the rear of the Humphryes Manufacturing company, and for a time threatened to destroy the structure.

Firemen from Engine companies Nos. 2 and 4 quickly brought the blaze under control, however.

Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad on whose right of way the bridge is located had not completed their investigation today and could place no estimate on the damage. They said the bridge, located on a spur, could still be used.

A fire at the Owls club, 115 North Main street, at 7:45 p. m. yesterday was extinguished by firemen from companes Nos. 1 and 2 before any serious damage had resulted. They reported that the blaze was caused by a defective chimney.

WPA ENGINEER GETS ROAD POST

A. H. Moellenkamp of Mansfield, WPA project supervisor in Richland county, today was appointed assistant state highway engineer in the Ashland division to have charge of WPA activities. He will begin work Monday.

Moellenkamp was named by Murray D. Shaffer, division engineer, who said the job was created recently when the state highway department agreed to sponsor a $15,000,000 WPA secondary road program.

Shaffer said the Ashland division which includes Richland and seven other counties, will share in the program to the extent of $1,500,000 with each of the counties receiving a share of the federal and state funds for road construction. Work on the huge project will be started immediately.

"Because of his experience with WPA work, we considered Moellenkamp the best man available to handle this important project in the division," Shaffer said.

Moellenkamp has been affiliated with WPA activities in Richland county since CWA was replaced by WPA in 1934. He has been assistant division field man, area engineer, and county project supervisor.

In recent months he has been in charge of a county-wide road and bridge program, the major work relief project in the county at the present time.

State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler announced today that Arthur A. Mackey, a timekeeper in the Ashland division, is one of 18 highway employes who will be suspended for 30 days next Tuesday for "disciplinary purposes."

Beightler said removal orders might be filed against the men

Bullet Ends 9-Day Chase For 'Tarzan'

'Wild-Man' Killer of Five Ends Own Life After Townsmen Trap Him.

(By Associated Press)

POWELL, Wyo.—A bullet from his own revolver delivered Earl Durand, the renegade of the Rockies, to his self-assigned address—"undertaker's office, Powell, Wyo."

The 26-year-old mountain Tarzan's trail of terror ended in a home town bank which he tried to rob yesterday after killing four pursuers during a nine-day flight from the law. The fantastic bank robbery attempt also cost the life of a 20 year old teller.

Durand, who had eluded capture by a posse that grew to more than a hundred men, was about to escape when a 17-year-old boy, Tipton Cox, fired the shot that felled him. Durand then fired a bullet into his brain with his own six-shooter.

So ended a bloody postscript written in the history of the wild west by a mountain-wise young man angered by his imprisonment for killing a bull elk out of season. He broke from the Cody jail March 16, killed two officers who sought to apprehend him, killed two more men when a posse tried to trap him in northwestern Wyoming's mountains, and then came back into town to rob a bank.

* * *

Durand, before he attempted a one-man stand against possemen in Clarksfork canon last Wednesday night, visited three ranches near Powel, leaving at one a letter addressed to Sheriff Frank Blackburn of Park county bearing as a return address: "undertaker's office, Powell, Wyo." The letter challenged the sheriff to "have my head mounted and hang it upon the courthouse." The wily fugitive knew, he wrote, that he was "done for."

An awed calm returned to Powell today. Hundreds of citizens filed past the body of the man they had known as a nature-loving individualist who rather than attend to school or ranch duties, preferred to live in the mountains for weeks, subsisting on game felled by his prodigious marksmanship and sometimes eating the meat raw.

John Gawthrop, 20, the slain teller of the First National bank of Powell, was one of three men Durand attempted to use as a shield when he stepped to the COLUMBUS —(AP)— An order for one billion sales tax stamps costing $110,000 was placed today by the state purchasing department. Of new color and design, they will replace stamps now in use and, under a recent legislative act, may be collected and redeemed at three per cent of their face value.

The Reserve Lithograph and Printing company of Cleveland was awarded $90,000 of the order; $20,000 went to the American Bank Note Company of New York.

Attaches in the office of Gov. John W. Bricker said the supply which will last about six months, was ordered at a savings of from $15,000 to $18,000 under prices paid in 1938.

County Sets Even Hotter Pace In Holding To Sales Tax Lead

Continuing its upward climb, sales tax receipts in Richland county for the week ending March 11 were $11,401 an increase of 74 per cent over the corresponding period last year, a report by State Treasurer Don H. Ebright showed today.

Richland county collections, one of the best in the state, far outdistanced the average state increase of 12 per cent.

Total receipts for the week of March 11, boosted the collections in the county so far this year to $79,942 a gain of 18 per cent over the same period last year. The total for the first 10 weeks of 1938 was $67,673. Receipts for the week of March 11 last year were $6,543.

In the state, sales tax collections for the week of March 11 reached $749,269 as compared with $667,428 for this period in 1938.

The total collections for the first 10 weeks of this year were $6,778,851 as compared with $6,443,603 in 1938.

HUSBAND SAYS HE STRANGLED SOCIALITE, 30

Leads Sheriff to Sewer Ditch Where He Buried Mate After Slaying March 6.

CONFESSES AT JAIL

'Must Have Been Crazy,' Says Oklahoman After Prosecutor Obtains Statement.

(By United Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY—Roger W. Cunningham, 33, eccentric member of a prominent Oklahoma City family, confessed early today that he strangled his 30-year-old beautiful socially prominent wife to death last March 6.

He directed a sheriff's party to her body which he had buried in a freshly dug sewer ditch.

The body was found face up by four workmen after they had dug through several feet of soft earth in a sewage ditch which had been filled in March 7, the day after the woman disappeared from her suburban home.

'Kicked It Into Ditch.'

Cunningham, according to County Prosecutor Lewis Morris, said he had strangled her—"I don't know why"—and had carried her body to the vacant lot through which the sewer ran and "kicked it into the ditch."

"I must have been crazy," he told Morris after more than two hours of questioning. "It was a hell of a thing to do."

Morris revealed that Cunningham twice had been held for examination at a hospital for the insane at Norman, Okla.

The prosecutor went to the county jail late last night for one final try at breaking his story that he saw his wife last on the night of March 6 when he drove her to union station here with the understanding she was going to San Francisco.

"We talked things over in a matter of fact way," Morris said, "and Cunningham stuck to his story. I described the anguish of her parents.

Mercury At 80, Showers To End March Heat Wave

Showers forecast for tonight and Sunday are expected to end the spring "heat wave" which yesterday sent the mercury to 80 degrees for the warmest March 24 in 14 years and boosted the mercury to 76 degrees by noon today.

The weatherman said slightly cooler weather will follow the showers Sunday but he predicted no sharp drop in the unseasonable temperature.

Yesterday's reading of 80 was one of the highest in the nation, with Raleigh, N. C., reporting 86 for the day's high. Cincinnati had 82 Columbus 81 and Cleveland 74

The reading of 80 was the highest March temperature recorded here since March 25, 1929 when the mercury climbed to the same mark.

Light showers last night failed to have any effect on the summer weather with the lowest temperature reading during the night at 47 degrees. The 24-hour average of 63 was 23 degrees above normal.

Ferguson To Demand U. S. Investigation Of Ohio UCC

AUDITOR SAYS HE WON'T PAY 1,800 WORKERS

Bricker Administration Tears Up Civil Service System, Official Charges.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson planned today to request a congressional investigation of the administration of Ohio's bureau of unemployment compensation.

"I will ask congress to inquire into the political activity and the ravishing of a civil service system whose workers are paid with federal funds," said the auditor, who has been holding up bureau payrolls since Feb. 28 when it was organized by the Bricker administration.

Ferguson asserted he understood the bureau was in terrible turmoil," that civil service employes were being discharged by the scores to make place for Republican appointees that payrolls were confused and that some employes had not been paid for several weeks.

Ferguson said one man had been working in the bureau for 11 weeks "and his name never has been submitted to us on a pay roll."

1,800 on Payroll.

The bureau has more than 1,800 employes, all of whose salaries are paid with federal funds, Ferguson said. Their pay checks must clear through his office.

The auditor said he was holding up the payrolls on the ground that legislation reorganizing the unemployment insurance system was unconstitutional and because he felt civil service workers should not be supplanted until the bureau determined whether the civil service commission would reinstate them after appeal.

Ferguson said he feared his office might be put in the position of having to pay reinstated employes after giving checks to those supplanting them.

"Besides," he added, "I don't think we have any right to pay persons appointed in the place of civil service workers who have been ousted without a proper hearing."

He said no salaries of the BUC would be paid until Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert gave him an opinion, requested today, on the constitutionality of the reorganization legislation which gave Republicans control of the administration previously in the hands of former Gov. Martin L. Davey's appointees.

The auditor took the position, he said, that the legislation stated an emergency existed, when in reality there is no emergency. The attorney general and courts have held before that the legislature was its own judge of what was an emergency.

Veteran Attorney Leads Lawyers To Spelling Victory

John F. Kramer, veteran Mansfield attorney and one of the old McGuffey school of spellers, led the lawyers' team in last night's spelling bee to victory over a team of secretaries.

Mr. Kramer was the only one of the ten contestants standing at the end of the test and it was believed that he could still have been spelling if the spelling master, the judge and the audience hadn't wanted to go home for the night. He made a score of 100, never missing a word.

Second highest was Miss Nita Branson of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company who had the highest score for the secretaries' team, making 75 points.

Attorney Claude Ewing was second highest of the men's team with a score of 75. Miss was recalled by Miss Freda Gorby, second on the women's team.

Among the words that "floored" members of the teams were "anonymist," "antarctic," "catalogue," "Eyrie," "finesse" and "ravenous."

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch was spelling master and Harry E. Colborn was judge.

Next week's spelling bee, which will be the fourth of a series sponsored by the Baker Grotto will bring together the old McGuffey club spellers and a team from The News-Journal. Louis Bromfield, novelist and former resident of the Near-north cliff, will be on the newspaper team.

Up and Down THE STREET

That machine gun at the entrance to the postoffice today wasn't the front-line protection for Uncle Sam's stamp money, but a "recruiting" for former army men who might be willing to enlisting for service in the regular army reserves. The gun was set up by Sergt. George A. Keeling from the army recruiting office in Columbus, who probably thought it would stir memories of army days in the breasts of former soldiers who are eligible for re-enlistment. Stationed on the front steps of the postoffice, the gun pointed across West Fourth street.

If the "average housewife" knew that she had to wash 18 miles of dirty dishes, she'd probably be right down beside the kitchen sink and die, but that is what a recent survey made by Westinghouse indicates. The "Dirty Dish" survey shows that the average housewife dries 40,000 dishes, pots and pans, and more than 10,000 pieces of silverware a year. Put the dishes all together for 10 years and you'd have a stack 12 miles high, or 76 stacks as high as the Empire State building. The survey doesn't say anything about Friend Husband's part in all this.

A group of county agricultural agents, in session here yesterday, tried to do something about the night meetings that deprive farmers of their sleep, but they finally gave it up as one of those things that can't be helped. Figures showed that nearby Wayne county has an average of six and a half meetings a night for farmers and Richland county has almost as many. Richland county's agent, George B. Ganyard, pointed out that daytime meetings are not popular except during the winter season, and the only way to get the farmers to attend is to hold the session at night after the chores are done.

CIO MAPS FORD PLANT DRIVE

Anti-Martin Wing of Auto Union to Plan Intensive Campaign Monday.

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND—An intensive organization drive in the Ford Motor company, competitive parts plants and the tool and die industry was listed today as the big job ahead for the CIO wing of the United Automobile Workers of America, which convenes in Cleveland Monday.

A representative group of UAW-CIO leaders, including those mentioned most prominently as possible candidates for the union's presidency, emphasized the Ford, parts and tool and die campaign in prophecies as to what the convention would accomplish.

The meeting, attracting some 500 delegates from all parts of the country and such speakers as John L. Lewis, Sidney Hillman and Philip Murray, opens Monday and probably will last a week. The election of new officers and a new executive board will climax the closing sessions.

In addition to the organization efforts, union leaders predicted the convention would see a solidifying of the union and constitutional amendments taking power from top officers.

"First of all the things the convention will do," Addes told International News Service, "will be to cement the organization—unite it, so to speak, because of the elimination of the wedge that divided the organization," Homer Martin and his cohorts.

Stephens said that of the total number of shares to be sold, 13,800 are to be purchased from the company and 33,815 from present shareholders.

"This is the first public offering of Mansfield Tire and Rubber company stock," Stephens said, "and with three exceptions all shareholders including principal executive officers are retaining 90 per cent of their holdings."

He added that the purpose of the offering was to provide a better market for the stock. Proceeds of the shares to be purchased from the company will be used to reimburse the firm for expenses incurred in recent additions to its plant facilities.

The public offering price of the stock will be $15.50 a share and 152,202 shares of common will be outstanding after the proposed financing.

According to the registration statement, the company's net sales for the past three years have totaled nearly $30,000,000. In 1936 sales totaled $7,496,790, in 1937 they were $10,482,362, and in 1938 the total was $11,812,039.

Stephens said that the company's gross sales for the first two months of this year were "substantially" higher than those in the same period in previous years.

Dividends per common share in the past three years, adjusted for 1936 to the present capitalization, were: 1936, 55 cents and 69 cents paid in preferred stock; 1937, $1 and 50 cents paid in preferred stock, and 1938, $1. A 25-cent first quarter dividend was paid March 20.

TEST SAMPLES OF LIQUOR FOR POISON POTION

Man, Neighbor Woman Stricken After Drinking; Officials Baffled by Deaths.

(By United Press)

ASHUELOT, N. H. — Less than five minutes after drinking from the same highball glass, two guests at a house party were stricken fatally last night.

The victims, Edgar Smart, 28, and Mrs. Julia Wheaton, 25, neighbors, died almost simultaneously soon after reaching a hospital.

"We don't know whether it was double murder, accident or a suicide pact," said County Solicitor John P. Goodnow after he and police had questioned for hours the other four persons who attended the party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smart.

Samples Tested.

"Neither have we been able to establish the nature of the poison which caused the deaths. I have sent samples of the liquor to the state toxicologist at Concord, but it may be several days before I get his report."

Goodnow said he learned from the other guests that Mrs. Wheaton first sipped from the glass, made a wry face and exclaimed:

"This tastes like poison!"

Then, according to Goodnow, Smart drank from the same glass and said:

"It sure does."

A few minutes later both were dead.

Goodnow said he could not find the glass that contained the lethal potion. He quoted Mrs. Smart, mother of a young daughter, as saying that immediately after taking the drink her husband smashed the bottle of liquor against a rock in the backyard. Other liquor, however, was found in the house.

Not That It Matters

Is There a Wellington To Stop Headlong Rush of Napoleon of Our Day?

—By JANE WILLIAMS

EXACTLY 125 years ago today there met in the city of old Vienna, diplomats from Austria, Great Britain, Russia and Prussia to sign the treaty of alliance. And do you know what their rallying cry was?

"Stop Napoleon!"

Stop the ruthless and powerful dictator who had conquered most of Europe and set the rest of it on its ears, was the one thought of that group of men. It is true that Bonaparte's wings had been clipped earlier but after his escape from Elba and his return to France at the head of his army, consternation spread in Europe again.

From the rise of his star in 1790 until it set at Waterloo, he kept Europe in much the same state that it is today—except that he conquered by the sword and not by the bloodless coups that have made Hitler a second Napoleon.

* * *

IN 25 YEARS the little Corsican corporal had become emperor of a kingdom unprecedented and unparalleled in all history. He had one of his relatives on practically every major throne in Europe except Great Britain and Austria. All Italy and all Spain and Portugal were his; he had his brother Jerome at Westphalia and all but 30 of the 400 German states were governed by his relatives and favorites. He had invaded Russia, had defeated the Austrians at Austerlitz (in 1805), and was at war with England and Switzerland.

For sheer hell-raising, Napoleon was miles ahead of Hitler, but there are certain parallels in their history that must provide a gleam of hope for the beleaguered peoples of Europe today.

They both came from humble beginnings and rose swiftly from obscurity to the heights—and both became intoxicated with their tremendous power.

* * *

ON MARCH 25, 1815 the remnants of European powers met at Vienna to "stop Napoleon" and on that day signed the treaty of alliance. But Bonaparte, still believing in his star, as does his prototype today, marshalled his forces for another bloody trail over Europe. Less than three months later he had met Wellington at Waterloo, and beaten down, defeated, dejected, he went back to his island prison, there to die.

History repeats itself, and one wonders how long and how much must Europe endure before Hitler meets his Waterloo. But still more disturbing is the thought that if there is another Wellington, he is as yet unknown.

* * *

AND wasn't it just like Mr. Hitler and his political cohort to remind us Americans this week that we had annexed Texas and California almost identically as he had taken Czechoslovakia and Austria? That we had started small, trouble-making minorities in those states when they belonged to another nation, and when the minorities yelled for autonomy, we had stepped in, wielded the sword and musket and taken unto ourselves two very rich and very large states?

Doesn't Mr. Hitler know that it is most contemptible to remind a respectable person of his shady past? It's embarrassing, that's what it is.

* * *

A PARAGRAPHER says it's funny, but he has just noticed that the Nazi swastika is a double cross. Still funnier, Mr. Chamberlain is just beginning to notice the double-cross, too....The Kansas City Star headline this week read: "MEMEL UNDER GERMAN HEEL." That's really a mild name for the German dictator—when you consider the other names he has been called.

* * *

THE laymen must have been considerably bewildered when they read that a woman member of the "Tobacco Road" company had James Barton, character actor, hailed before the Guild for using "vile language" back stage. What could he possibly have said back stage that he hasn't been saying to "Tobacco Road" audiences for the past six years?

If he said anything new, I'd like to hear it—out of sheer curiosity. After seeing the play, I thought the author had used up all the words.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Capek, Creator of Robot, Would See Own Race In That Class Had He Lived

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—A few years after the last World war there appeared at the very musty old Garrick theater a Theater Guild production of a play by Karel Capek of Prague, called "R. U. R." or "Rossom's Universal Robots."

It stormed the imagination and gave us the word "robot," meaning a more or less faceless industrial slave.

In Capek's play the robots were flesh-and-blood creatures without souls or the power to reproduce themselves, being manufactured by science through some extension of the test-tube process, but with a sort of intelligence.

They were great workers, and everything looked easy for the human race until science got too smart, endowing the latest model with ambition—a great mistake, as it made the great hordes of the powerful brutes revolt.

Had Capek lived but a little longer he would have seen his own people reduced to the condition of the robots in "R. U. R." and the terrible fulfillment of another prophetic horror of his which was produced some time later.

In this country this play was called "The World We Live In," and it depicted the human race in the garments and traits of butterflies, beetles and ants, and, in a terrifying climax, showed the insect world going to war again to the clang of steel and the blare of gun foundries in a dispute about the pathway between two blades of grass.

* * *

Capek continued to live in Prague to the end of his days, and when I interviewed him there about three years ago, nobody could have believed that any tyrant in this day would have the stupid effrontery, to say nothing of the fiendish cruelty, to attempt the enslavement which Hitler now has decreed for Capek's people.

"R. U. R." was absurdly improbable, it was impossible until the brown ants of the Nazi army, the faceless men in dehumanized uniform, strutting in the step that human beings never were meant to walk, descended on the helpless Czech republic, seized everything and combined the powers of both Capek's plays into one ghastly reality.

The people, by Hitler's decree, are now not even full citizens of their own country, but subjects, serfs, or, much more aptly, robots condemned to work for the Germans under German masters and without even the small rights and privileges that Nazi citizens enjoy in Germany. It flatters the condition of Capek's people to say that they were captured.

* * *

Human beings are captured, but objects are stolen, and the Nazis conceded the Czechs no human right or qualities.

Capek scoffed at the thought of an invasion of Czechoslovakia by the faceless men from over the mountains, and, although he recognized that the country formed a pathway between two blades of grass, so to speak, he thought this war would never come.

He counted on France and Balkan policies to preserve his country, and it was plain that in his mind none of the fiction of his two great plays applied to the nation of which he was a citizen.

But the play is not over. There were two armies of ants in the war over the pathway between the blades of grass, and the robots, be it remembered, rebelled and took horrible revenge.

MIX FUN AND RIDING SKILL

Raemelton Riders Take Part In 9-Event Program, First At Hall In Months.

The doughnut contest in which men and women riders attempted to eat doughnuts suspended on strings without taking their hands off the reins, was won by Miss Faye Chamberlain. Young Draffan also won the bottle race—taking bottles off high standards at full speed and placing them on again.

For the egg-and-spoon race riders were given fresh eggs in long handled spoons and the stunt was to race around the arena and arrive back at goal with the egg in the spoon, but eggs flew in every direction as riders rounded the turns, and while several made it, Henry Huston, riding Jupiter, won the prize.

For the potato race buckets were placed at one end of the long arena and a pile of potatoes for each rider at the other end. Only one potato could be picked up at a time and the trick was to transfer the whole pile into the buckets, which required dismounting for every potato. Louis Ott took honors in this event.

Spearing the rings was exciting for it wasn't easy to catch the five-inch rings on the wooden lances when the horses were in a fast canter or running. Kenneth Hall on Kiki was the only one of the "knights" who took all six rings.

In the lighted candle event all of the riders raced around the arena carrying lighted tapers and the first one back to the goal with the light still burning was Dr. Robert Fray, on Kiki.

"Musical Chair," which is an event of quick mounting and dismounting and alertness to the sudden ending of the music, was won by Mrs. Tom Ford who rode Queen. Dr. Fray gave her a stiff battle for the last chair, however, she landing on the chair and he on the ground beside the chair.

Mrs. Thornton Moore won the honors as best woman rider in the ladies equitation class. She was up on Virginia Dare. Judging, done by Capt. Charles Ebert of Cleveland, was solely on the basis of riding points. Other young women in the class were Mrs. Moore's sister, Mrs. Tom Ford, Miss Mary Olive Hughes who gave Mrs. Moore stiff competition, Miss Faye Chamberlain and Miss Mariann Stander.

One of the highlights of the show was the presentation of High Tone, the recently purchased Tennessee Walking Horse of Glenn Vinson's, the first of its kind in this vicinity. The sturdily built horse, beautiful in color and lines, is distinguished by its smooth walk and easy riding qualities.

PLAYERS DEPICT PASSION STORY

4-Hour Pageant to Be Staged Tomorrow at High School By Cleveland Group.

For four hours tomorrow afternoon, from 2 to 6, the last week in the life of Christ will be presented in the form of a dramatic pageant when the Mercede Dramatic club of Cleveland gives "The Passion Play" at Senior High school auditorium.

A cast of 100, including the major players who have been trained for their roles, will depict the events that transpired in Jerusalem from Palm Sunday and Christ's victorious entry into the city, up to the crucifixion at Golgotha and the resurrection on Eastern morning.

The action shows the betrayal by Judas and the Last Supper; the agony of Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemene and His appearance before Pilate.

The long sorrowful march to Calvary, with Mary following her son, the pity of Veronica for the Man who was bent under the weight of the great wooden cross are all depicted in this American version of the Passion Play. It follows closely the pattern of the famous Oberammergau Passion Play.

The show is being brought to Mansfield by the Umberto lodge of the Sons of Italy and proceeds will be used for the organization's sick benefit fund.

Wonders If She Should Wed at 17?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

The boy I'm in love with is 22 and I'm 17. We've been going "steady" for about a year and he wants to marry me. When he first asked me I was sure I'd say I thought I'd better wait a year or so, as I thought I didn't know my own mind. Now that the year has passed, I feel as if I love him twice as much. He is in a position to marry and has very fine ideas of me.

Do you advise me to wait until I'm 18 (nearly waiting one wonderful year and ruined a chance to bring him to me)? I nearly ran away from home to elope with him now? I suppose one's parents have a right to object to seeing you act and I might find him extremely bad, though his and mother approve. You think we should wait until I'm 18. Please help me. ANXIOUS.

The best advice I can offer is to read carefully the letters I receive from girls who married when so young and now are sorry they passed up youth and freedom. If yours is really the exception which proves the rule. That I doubt. But grandmothers married at 17 and were happy. But would you have managed so naturally that marriage of the very young days grown successful today? A theory that commanded honest consideration a few years ago hardly keeps the wolf from the door today.

All said and done I'm inclined to agree with your parents that you'd better wait till you're at least eighteen.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Lona, of course, knew just what she wanted herself, and as Philip's productions are always well in advance of the fashions, her selections from his last modern comedy, are not too much beyond now. And as I had told her exactly what I wanted, she was able to fill several large boxes and have them taken back to the big trunk and compact of Philip's dear Dining Philip, of course, is made no comment upon the luggage, and I am sure he never mentioned the second afternoon or one to him."

"You may be very sure of that," I said with a suppressed sarcasm at the idea of any employe of Philip Vernon's offering him an unsolicited comment upon any matter.

"As a probability," the star continued, quite warm to the believe that I selected modern clothing of as conservative type as I could find. But—her lip curved again with humorous contempt—"women of America or remain age should not wear modern clothing if they wish to produce an atmosphere of romantic glamour. They should stage a costume piece instead."

"I am going to speak very frankly to you, my dear Marge," she said, "for you have such an understanding heart. Ever since I first saw you I have felt that our hearts and minds are peculiarly attuned, and that there is nothing I cannot tell you. And, except for my best daughter who is young, and therefore cannot understand the point of view of other people, I am so alone."

"That is one of the nicest things which has ever been said to me," I told her. "I shall try to deserve your confidence. Please feel that you can say anything to me you wish, and I will hold in sacred."

"I know that already," she said with a bright smile at me. "It is what on which I am counting when I shall tell you of the little plan I have."

She did not give me time to make a comment, even if I had wished to interrupt her by one.

"Do you remember the night we first met?" she asked, and there swept over me a vivid recollection of that night when the new-rich woman opposite me had looked a wrinkle-like mag as she stumbled to the desk of the pure white room, the room in which she had been held captive.

"I never shall forget it," I said earnestly, and she nodded.

"I am afraid Philip never will either," she said, and I could not tell whether the persistence in her voice was genuine, or was a mask for secret merriment.

"You mean—" I said blankly at last when she did not go on.

"I mean," she said slowly, "that when Philip saw me looking as I did that night, his early romantic dream of me died. There was something intangible in his manner when I was able to notice what he was saying. Oh, he was the soul of courtesy and chivalrous kindness, but there was no longer in his eyes the look which I saw in them at the reception in New York, the look which was always turned on me in the old days."

She stopped and looked at me with an expression in her eyes that was half wistful, half whimsical.

"Do you see now why I wanted the glamour costumes?" she asked.

Coiffures Evolve Step By Step

Fancy and gentle reader that the upswing coiffure does burn and is like a feature sky-rocket. Coiffures are ever in a state of evolution, one suggests another. The towering design came along gradually.

The time arrived when the finger wave was so beguilingly achieved that it was a perfect realization of the design bestowed by nature.

It is an important detail of the hair arrangement of the glorious hair. A few lines at the back give chic and manner to the nape line besides holding the hair in place and helping solve the bowpaper problem of the moment—those straggly scolding locks which are so humble.

For years the ears have been ornamented. Now they're out, revealing the world's fit women in all their beauty par-taps, which can be partly hidden. That's the nice thing about modern fashions. You don't have to swath your head, face, ears, hair, what you like, ignore what you don't.

The one defect in the coiffure of the present time is not in arrangement but in material. Hair lacks gloss and life due to too much waving and not enough brushing. But all that will be corrected in due course of time.

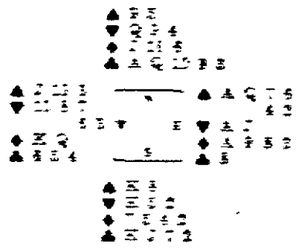
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE INITIATIVE IS YOURS

IF YOUR PARTNER has had a chance to double the opponents' game contract and has not done so, the decision must be made for the side of you. If you are pretty sure your side could not make the contract, you should double. If you are not sure, your problem is still not settled. Do you think the enemy can make their contract? If the answer is yes you still have a problem. You of course will not double them in that event, but will consider only the question of a sacrifice. How many points will it probably cost you? Is less than the value of the trouble game go ahead and sacrifice.



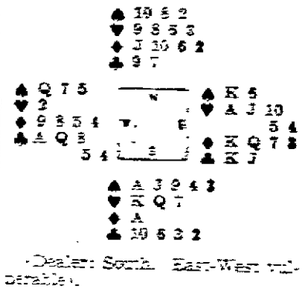
Dealer North. Neither side vulnerable.

East opened the deal with 1-Spade. West bid 2-No trump. North 3-Clubs. East 3-Spades. South 4-Clubs and West passed. North was satisfied to let the 3-Clubs alone but East now revealed his six-four division, with a bid of 4-Diamonds. South having made the free bid thought he had better wait to see what his partner wanted to do so passed. West then shifted from 4-Diamonds to 4-Spades. North called 4-Clubs and East 4-Spades. South again felt as he had already performed about all that he could so passed as did West. North reflected that his hand was very weak against spades, so sacrificed at 5-Clubs which East doubled on general principles.

By leading the spad. A shifting to Diamonds and West then switching to hearts the defense took the first five tricks, setting the contract two for a score of 500. It was profitable to North-South, however for East would have made his 4-Spades losing only one trick in trumps, one in hearts and one in clubs.

* * *

Monday's Problem.



Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.

If South bets into the crazy contract of 4-Spades doubled here because of his partner's psychic bidding and West leads the heart A to the A, what heart should East return and why, if during the auction his partner had bid clubs?

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, March 26.

Sunday's horoscope holds for everyone promise for all affairs dealing with experience and those concerned with travel, adventure and romance. Courtship or some novel or unique experience is probable. Literary matters or correspondence may be profitably entertained.

For Monday, March 27.

Monday's astrological forecast is a most interesting one. It is an indication of a particularly active and happy day in private social affairs and romantic affairs. Business may be lively. But there are menaces of fraud, treachery and unfortunate legal entanglements. Shun these and safeguard funds.

Those whose birthday it is may find the ensuing year one of social functions, domestic interest or romantic bliss, rather than profitable business affairs. The latter are menaced by legal entanglements, threats of fraud and trickery. Beware plots and queer propositions, and keep funds in security.

A child born on this day may be very clever in writing, speech and business, but may be subject to plots, tricks and other underhanded ways for its financial undoing. It may be personally extravagant, perhaps lavish in its social, domestic or romantic expenditures. It should be popular and marry well.

CONVICT'S DAUGHTER + + +

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

While Lona was entertaining the party with his crowing songs Dona played beside Dinah, content to look on rather than to be part of the fun. She and Dinah were whispering together, trying to arrive at some sort of decision about the future of Bruno Graves and the Dona boy whom the pelican-quet Pinky Malone adored.

Pinky was a queer, fascinating mixture of a weird brat, a fiction character and a grown-up pleasure—strangely, he seemed to be a combination of the best qualities of both. He was a boy, and yet he was a man. He was a child, and yet he was a woman. He was a boy, and yet he was a girl. He was a child, and yet he was a woman. He was a boy, and yet he was a girl. He was a child, and yet he was a woman.

"Dinah, what's the matter?" Dona asked her as he noticed her downcast face.

"Nothing," Dinah answered, but her voice was not convincing.

"Is it because I'm going away?"

"No, Dona, I'm glad you're going away. I'm glad you're going away. I'm glad you're going away.
